The uneasiness felt for the ship was increased by a report made by Capt. Hunter of the British ship Galvin, which reached Girard Point today. He says that on the 20th that while weathering a terrific sale. 20th inst., while weathering a terrific gale, he observed on the creat of a wave a part of a passenger vessel's lifeboat. It was painted white and the figure "2" was plainly visible on one end. On the other side were letters, no doubt the name of the ship from which it had flosted.

Pilot Schellinger, who was in charge of the Galvin, says the craft described by Capt. Hunter closely resembles those car-ried by the American-line boats. Close Armenia Appeals Americans.

The Free Should Assist the Oppressed.

A Thanksgiving Day Offering Asked on Behalf of the Down-

The Secretary of the Phil-Armen Association Makes an Earnest Plea-A Ballot that Means mething

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 25.—The folowing is designed as a Thanksgiving Day proclamation from Armenia to the people of the United States:

"Thrice happy people of the land of freedom, you are thankful that the lives of your forefathers were spared and that God established here a great nation, standing upon liberty and free dom of conscience. Today there is an ancient Christian nation sitting around the smouldering ruins of her home and mangled thousands of her dead. She is robbed of her liberty, but keeps She is robbed of her ilberty, but keeps the freedom of conscience by martyrdom. You have read and you have been horrified by the inbuman cruelties perpetrated upon the helpless people of Armenia—men, women and children, brought up like yourselves in Christian gentleness and purity. The glory of their martyrdom shines over the world and the crime is world and the crime is against humanity. The horror of the slaughter and the bestial cruelty and church services; the evangelists at founess of the outrage have chilled the First Methodist and First Baptist, the heart and polluted the ear of

> "I ask the whole American to declare to the world on the day of their glad Thanksgiving, by unanimous vote, their consternation brutal slaughter of thousands of Amen ian families and the crushing of mercy and justice with one blow fore the eyes of the civilized world, 1 ask them to cast that vote, not on pa-per, but on a good American central dime if they will, but at least one American cent from every man woman and child whose heart has ached for the stricken Armenian nation. To look upon the cent or the dime, ere they cast it and see the United States encircling liberty and exultant in the glory of their inheritance, to dedicate that sacred symbo for a mighty protest against all oppression and in sympathy for a bleed > ing nation. "Today as you rejoice, ye people of the United States, free men of what ever condition, united in the glad gatherings of home, think, I pray you, once of Armenians' ruins drench the blood of her slaughtered children think once of the horror still crushing the heart of the people that remain and when you realize that it is possible for you to belp deliver them, I a glad day heartily, as to God, in the name of horror-stricken women in Armenia, I appeal to the women and the sons and brothers of their love, for if they will call, this vote will be cast and shake the world to an ever lasting glory to the womanhood of

"In the name of martyred Christian church of Armenia I appeal to all min sters of the gospel and members of all church and Christian organizations to help swell the vote. The number of the cents will count the vote and will roll over the continen of Europe a mighty wave of scathing condemnation of the foul murder of a people in this enlightened age, and of the swelling tide of this nation's thanksgiving there will peal forth such an anthem of hope as will be a message to fainting Armenia that the spirit of liberty upon earth is not dead but is living in the bosom of the American people.

"And to the stupendous power of that vote will be the creation of a national Armenia fund. It will be the life blood of the Phil-Armenian asso-ciations which strive to have purity of life, honor and property assured to the people of Armenia. Pending united organization of all friends of Armenia and for the appointment of officers and trustees, the following honored gentlemen will act as trus-tees of the fund: The Mayor of Minne-apolis, William H. Eustis, George A. Pillsbury, E. C. Chamberlain, presi-dent of the Security Bank. Men of like national repute will be asked to dent of the Security Bank. Men of like national repute will be asked to be temporary trustees in New York. The trustees will hold the fund inviolate to be used for two definite objects only: First, to secure the protection of the Armenian people in Turkey from further outrages; second, to promote the cause of establishing a right over their righteous government.

key from further outrages; second, to promote the cause of establishing a right over their righteous government in Armenia.

"Europe has no regard for Armenia because she has no armament except the sanctity of the home and the brave hearts of her men and women. Armenia recognizes no mightler armament than that. I ask you to declare that to the world by accepting the bonds of Armenia. I pledge to you the honor of a nation of 4000 years of honest, tolisome life, that Armenia will redeem her bonds to keep them in eternal memory of a glorious day when a mighty nation stretched forth a gentle hand and lifted up in her arms a trampled and bleeding, sister to shelter her from threatened death.

"We ask for a cent, a dime or a check as a Thanksgiving date vote of check as a Thanksgiving date vote of abhorrence of the massacre and of sympathy for afflicted Armenia. It can be mailed to either Security Bank, Minneapolis, Western National Bank, New York; Wells-Fargo Company, San Francisco. Remind others to do likewise.

"Oh, is it not a little to do in a thank-thrilled day for so royal a service in a cause of justice for the oppressed? Send a card with your name and mention of amount to the secretary, Minneapolis, and we will keep it in the annals of our new life a thousand years to come.

"To the editors of America I appeal"

It in the annals of our new life a thousand years to come.
"To the editors of America I appeal with yearning. You, honored sire, are the gate-keepers of the nation's heart. Will you not hold up this signal for the rescue of a fation? I pray you display this proclamation and every inch of bold type will be a blazing protest against foul murder and horrible descration of sacred homes and every reader will cast a burning vote. I invoke the rich blessing of heaven upon the press of America.

upon the press of America.

"To you, noble people of the United States, mother Armenia would send the soul's blessing for Jerusalem of old: 'Peace be within thy walls and prosperity within thy palaces'—the homes of the liberty-loving people.

NOISY YOUTHS.

New York Theatrical Managers and Police on Guard Against Them.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 .- It has been de termined by the theatrical managers that the noisy and disorderly scenes which have been of regular annual occurrence at the theaters on the night following the great football match shall be avoided this year and steps have been taken to prevent the students from getting seats in advance for any of the theaters in a great number. Several of the managers have gone so far as to order that no advance sales shall be made for the evening of December 1. In instances the students have drive mers off the stage and made ssary for the managers to ring down the curtain and close the theaters.

The police, as well as the theater-man agers, are preparing for the annual cheer-ing of the collegians, and the boys will find their rushes and tackles in Broadway seriously interfered with by the blue-coat as they have been accustomed to. If the boys are moderately noisy they will not be nterfered with.

A dispatch- boat left Ping-Yang inlet this morning for Port Arthur, conveying the Emperor's congratulations to Count Oyama and his thanks to the troops.'

A dispatch sent from Port Arthur via Hwang Ju, Thursday, has been received here. It states that the Chinest fought vigorously. The Japanese lost 250 men killed or wounded. The Chinese loss was over one thousand. The dispatch adds that for over a fort night past Count Oyama's army has been steadily marching in two divis ions down the peninsula to Port Ar thur. No organized resistance was of fered by the Chinese troops for three quarters of the march. Since then owever, there were occasional brushe with the enemy. On Tuesday, the right division advance guard had a skirmish with the enemy, who retired in good order. In the afternoon the fort and village of Shuisy-Ching was captured. Both divisions moved forvard during the night.

Early in the morning the right division crept up the range of low hills to the northwest of Port Arthur and carried them with a rush. Guns were then dragged up and fire opened on a strong redoubt, one thousand yards The enemy returned the fire distant. briskly. The Japanese infantry advanced against a well-directed fire without faltering. Shortly before 9 o'clock the fort was carried by storm in a most gallant fashion. LONDON MARKETS.

Probable Effect of the Completion of the Baring Liquidation.

ssociated Press Leased-wire Service.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—(By Atlantic Cable.) Business at the stock exchange during the week was tolerably active, though it was not up to the level of the previous fortnight. There was disposition in the early part of the week to take profits, and prices dropped a little. Later, the upward movement was resumed with every prospect that the advance would make further progress.

The feature of the week was the completion of the Baring liquidation, so far as the Bank of England is concerned. The transfer of this money s thought to imply a further lockingup of resources, but it is probable that the bank will be forced to invest some portion of its surplus, thus returning it to the market. by cheap money all of the first-class securities have risen and a fresh boom is promised in all gilt-edged stocks. delegate for each 100 members.

The sessions are held each year just prior to the convening of the national Congress, the intentian being to thought-fully discuss all matters in which the Western States and Territories are directly interested and pave the way for legislation in the national Congress. As the delegates are supposed to directly represent the people, they will, as business men who have the commercial welfare of the West at heart, and who are in no way guided by political influence or selfish motives, indicate to Western Congressmen what particular measures the Western people are most directly concerned.

At the coming sassion the chief subjects for discussion are: The remonetization of silver; irrigation of arid and other lands; the disposition of Indian and public lands; the Micargua Canal; a national bankruptcy law; the improvement of Western rivers and harbors; anti-option, mining laws and admission of Territories to Statehood.

The Utah delegation held a meeting at the Bee from Lincoln, Nob., says that the latest developments in the affairs of the wrecked Capital National Pank, which President Mosher wrecked lest year, going to the penitentiary for five years for stealing $1,000,000, is the application made by the receiver for permission to be made a party to the proceediums relative at the Thomas Patterson, editor of the Denver Rocky Mountain News, who was expected to make the principal speech on the silver question, cannot be present. A telegram was received today from Patterson saying that, owing to the serious illiness of his daughter he could not be present. It is expected that Congressman Bryan of Nebraska will take Patterson's place.

The congress will open with prayer by Rev. Samuel Niccolus, D.D. The addresses of welcome will be made by President Boyd of the Merchants' Exchange, Mayor Walbridge in behalf of the city and Gov. Stone in behalf of the city and Gov. Stone in behalf of the city and Gov. Stone in behalf of the State. Gov. McConnell of Idaho will respond on behalf of the Congress.

On Monday evening irrigation has been made the special order and addresses will be made by Elwood Meade, president of the National Irrigation Congress, and State Engineer of Wyoming William E. Enormous Growth and Abuse of Sec ond-class Transportation—Alleged "Social" and "Trade" Publications.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—PostmasterGeneral Bissell has submitted to the President his annual report for the year ending June 30, 1894. He briefly outlines the policy of the department in the following:

"In general I would recommend that the first and most important thing to be done is to revise the law as to second-class matter so as to place the Postoffice Department immediately upon a self-sustaininc basis; second, avoid expensive experiments like the postal telegraph, rural free delivery, etc.; third, develop the postal service on existing lines of administration, viz.: Extend free delivery to cities that do not now enjoy it; accord it to towns already entitled to it under the law; quicken railroad transportation; fourth, revise and re-classify the organization of the railway mail service, and ecclassify clerks in postoffices; fifth, provide for district supervision of all postal affairs by the appointment of expert postal officials from classified service, as recommended in my last annual report."

Postmaster-General Bissell first discusses the effect of the continued depression upon the postal revenues and says: "When adverse business conditions prevail, an ordinary business establishment may overcome them in part by economic management and retrenebment in says: "When adverse business conditions prevail, an ordinary business establishment may overcome them in part by economic management and retrenchment in expenditures. Not so, however, with the postoffice establishment of the government. It cannot and should not stop to consider little economics. Its duties and obligations to the public become intensified and enlarged."

The revenue for the year was $75,080,-479; expenditures, $84,234,414, leaving a deficit of $9,243,935. The estimates for the current year ending June 30, 1895, are Revenue, $34,427,48; expenditures, $90,-399,485; deficiency, $5,791,737. The estimates submitted to the Secretary of the Treasury for the next fiscal year are Revenue, $36,907,407; expenditures, $91,-055,283; deficiency, $4,151,876. This annual deficiency, $4,151,876. This annual deficiency, $4,151,876. This annual deficiency, $4,101,876. This annual deficiency, $4,151,876. This annual deficiency, $4,151,876. The estimates of postal rates; but he does not believe this advisable. Economy has been practiced, but nevertheless great care has been taken that it should not affect the efficiency of the service. The economies have consisted mainly in releting contracts for mail transportation, and in the cost and amount of supplies, as also in the abrogation of seven of the eleven steamship subsidy contracts, which will mean a total saving in the years of the contracts life of $14,431,235.

The Postmaster-General recommends that the experiments with the free-delivmean a total saving in the years of the contracts' life of $14,431,325.

The Postmaster-General recommends that the experiments with the free-delivery project should be discontinued, and thinks that free delivery in the rural districts is not needed or desired by the people. Both if these projects were originated by his predecessor. He refers to the war made by the department on lottery schemes passing under the name of "bond investment" companies, and says it has been waged successfully. He recommends the enactment of laws covered in bills now pending before Congress for the further suppression of lotteries.

Of the obstruction of mails by strikes, the Postmaster-General says: "In my last report I called attention to the necessity for legislation such as then was, or is now, recommended by the superintendent of the railway mail service for the punishment of train-wreckers and for legislative determination of the definition of a mail train. Such legislation would be of great advantage to the postal service."

Une of the most important and interesting features of the service to the company of the service of the property of the service of the services of the service

De of great advantage to the postal service."

One of the most important and interesting features of the report is its discussion of chass matter. In his bast report he referred to the great disproportion in the growth of second-class mail matter. He has made a thorough investigation during the year, upon which he says: "The effect of all this upon my mind is a conviction that the statutes and the precedents upon which the business now rests are defective; that they embody the only great abuse at present existing in the postal service, and that, as this business is growing all the time, some remedy shold be applied."

tion of silver; irrigation of arid and other lands; the disposition of Indian and public lands; the Nicaragua Canal; a national bankruptcy law; the improvement of Westbarr rivers and harbors; anti-option, mining laws and admission of Territories to Statehood.

The Utah delegation held a meeting at the Planters' tonight and organized, with an averige of 8 cents a pound. Returns from postmasters show that the amount upon which postage, at the rate of 1 cent per pound, was paid, was 254,000,000 pounds being matter carried free in the country of publication. The cost of carrying the second-class matter was $20,-320,000, while, at the rate of 1 cent a pound, the collections were $2,547,000, and $800,000 special local rates in carriers (cities, leaving a net loss to the government of $16,873,000."

After giving these figures, the Postmaster-General continues: "This calculation applies to transporting alone. The separate cost of distribution and delivery it will not attempt to estimate, but any one can see those items of expenditures would largely swell the loss. I do not advocate a change of rates now upon legitlmsite newspapers and periodical magazines. My purpose is to urge the withdrawais of the postage rates from the large cities, and the pretended periodicals that are now improperly enjoying them. "The most conspicuous class of these periodicals are what are now generally known as "social" paper-covered books. They are in no sense social, however, except in mame, being usually given some such general designation as "The Fireside Series," The Detective Library, or some other title of title character. They are nothing but books, pure and simple, and many of them are very trashy books at that; each one distinct in itself, the 'series' never being devoted to amything in particular, having few subteribers, and with no real subscription price. "Another class of publications now targely enjoying the low postage accorded to second-class matter, is what has got to be known as the 'House Organ,' being simply upaper or pamphet devoted mainly to the advertising of some corded to second-class matter, is what has got to be known as the 'House Organ,' being simply upaper or pamphet devoted mainly to the advertising of some corded to second-class matter, is what has got to be known as the 'House Organ,' being simply upaper or pamphet devoted mainly to the advert traternal societies, then the remedy I would suggest would be an amendment of the law limiting this rate to them and to legitimate newspapers and legitimate periodical magazines."

"I believe one year's experience under such limitation would demonstrate that all legitimate newspapers and periodical magazines may be transmitted through our mails from publishers into the hands of subscribers free of all cost."

The Postmaster-General does not favor the postal telegraph, a system advocated by his predecessor. The conditions in this country, he says, are such as would enormously increase the large deficit. He takes as example the system in Great Britain, which is a comparatively small territory, and shows that the postal telegraph estalian an annual loss of about $2,000,000. He points out that in a country where the territory is so large the cost of a postal telegraph would far exceed any possible receipts or benefits.

Mr. Bissell gives the following daily average business of the department, which shows the vastness of the postal service: Number of miles of post routes tun, 1,100,000; number of stamps manufactured, 8,300,000; number of postal cards manufactured, 1,500,000; number of pieces mailed, 7,400,000; number of pieces of mail matter distributed and redistributed by rallway postal clerks, 27,500,000; number of pieces handled in the dead letter office, 20,000; daily transactions in money-order business, $1,100,000; daily expenses, $231,-100.

The Postmaster-General believes in civil of pieces handled in the dead letter office, 220,000; daily transactions in money-order business, $1,100,000; daily expenses, $231,100.

The Postmaster-General believes in civil service in the postoffice department. He says: "If the system has produced such good results in the clerical force of the department, it is reasonable to inquire whether something could not be applied with advantage to the lower grades of postmasters. For more than one generation the American people have been trained to regard the postoffice as inseparable to varying fortunes of the two great political parties, and, in some instances, even as legimately following the vicissitudes of more factions within a party. This fallacy is to be deplored.

"The intelligence of our people has long outgrown the notion that any one political party enjoys a monopoly of administrative talent. The local postoffice is closely connected with the every-day life of the people who patronize it, and nothing is further from the principles of home rule and majority rule than to force a change whatever. Yet this is what happens, and is bound to happen as long as the postoffices remain in the public mind, and hence in the practice of government, associated with politics. The postal service must either be taken out of the political field altogether and surrounded with the same conditions which conduce to the health of a private business, or be divided, for administrative purposes, into two sections, the one political and the other non-political side shall not be required to give any of his thought to the improvement of the postal system." Curiosities in Pearls.

Curiosities in Pearls.

(Gentleman's Magazine:) The value of pearls have been in all ages commensurate with their beauty. In the East, especially, they have been greatly admired, and enormous sums of money have been paid for them. Pliny observes that pearls are the most valuable and excellent of all precious stones; and from our Savior's comparing the kingdom of heaven to a pearl, it is evident they must have been held in very high estimation at that time. It is said that Julius Caesar gave a pearl to the mother of Marcus Brutus that was valued at 448,417 10s of our present money; and Cleopatra dissolved one worth £250,000 in vinegar, which she drank at the supper with Mary Antony.

From time immemorial there have been fisheries of pearl in the Persian Guif, the Red Sea, and in the bays of Ceylon; and when Columbus arrived in the Guiff of Parla on his first voyage to America he was astonished to find the precious gems abounding there in unparalelled quantities. His men landed and saw the Indian women adorned with sphendid pearls round their arms, as well as round their necks; but their possessors seem to have been perfectly ignorant of the true value of the gems, as it is recorded that an Indian woman gave one of the sailors four rows of her pearls merely in exchange for a torken earthenware plate.

The Spanish King forbade any one to go within fitty leagues of the place where such riches were found without the royal permission, and took possession of the fisheries for himself; but so crueily did the Spaniards behave to the natives, making them perforce dive for them, and brutally ill-treating them, when they were unsuccessful in pearl-finding, that "one morning at dawn the Indians essailed the Spaniards, made a sanguinarry slaughter of them, soth monks and laymen."

A CATHOLIC'S SNEER.

RISHOP M'QUAID ON ARCH-BISHOP IRELAND.

in the Election in New York Alleged Motives of His Grace.

ROCHESTER (N. Y.) Nov. 25.—Bishop McQuaid, at the Roman Cathelic Cathedral in this city, preached a sensational sermon this morning, in which he denounced the action of Archbishop Ireland, in coming to this State and taking part in the last political campaign. In his serwon, Bishop McQuaid said that in his forty-seven years of priesthood he had never put himself under obligations to any of the political parties, for twenty-seven years he had never cast a vote, out of anxiety not to put in any man's political power to say that he had voted for one party of the other. Following is an extract of the sermon:

"Having said this much, by way of preface, I will now advert to the late scandal, which caused these remarks. Every Catholic having respect for his bishops and priests and the honor and good fame of his church, must have been pained and mortified when he learned, during the later political campaign, that one of our bishops, the archbishop of St. Paul, oast to one side the traditions of the past and entered the political arenalike any layman. The newspapers were careful to keep the public duly informed of his arrival in New York before election; of his appearance on the platform at ratification meetings, surrounded by the leaders of the Republican party; of his views on political questions, strongly expressed through interviews carefully prepared for the press, and of his mingling in a crowd of excited politicians and partiesans on the night of the election.

"I contend that this coming to New York of the archbishop of St. Paul to take part in a political contest, was undignified, disgraceful to his episcopal office and a sandal in the eyes of all right-minded Catholics of both parties. It was furthermore a piece of meddlesome interference on his part to come from his State to another, break down all discipline among our priests and justify the charges of those infinical to us that priests are partisans and use their offices and opportunities for political work.

"If Archbishop Ireland had made himself litical work.

"If Archbishop Ireland had made himself as conspicuous in favor of the Democratic party, he would be just as blameworthy in my estimation. If his conduct was not censured and condemned, it would not be possible for me to restrain the priests of this diocese from initiating his example, and descend from the pulpit to the political platform and marshal their parishioners up to the polls on the day of election. Not one of them but has an equal right with His Grace of St. Paul to turn electioneering against one party or another, and absent himself from the parish as did the archbishop.

"It is no excuse 10 say that the archbishop was working in the interest of good government. Every other clerical aspirant to political distinction would say the same thing. New York is abundantly able to take care of itself without extraneous help, as the last election showed, and, if the newspapers report correctly, the Legislature of Minnesota is saily in need of purification, and His Grace might have found full scope for his political scheming and still stay right at home, if politician he would be.

"But it is well known to many that it purification, and His Grace might have found full scope for his political scheming and still stay right at home, it politicals he would be.

"But it is well known to many that it was not the love of good government that kept Archbishop Ireland so many weeks in New York city, and so far from his diocese, where the law of residence obliged him to be. It was to pay a debt to the Republican party that his services were rendered. During the last session of the New York Legislature Archbishop freland busied himself with writing letters to Republican leaders in favor of the candidacy of Rev. Maloney for the position of regent of the university.
"It was none of the archbishop's business to meddle with business that did not concern him; when he knew that the archbishop of New York and his suffragants desired the election of a candidate able and willing to protect the best interests of the Catholic schools and academies coming under the control of the regents. They knew the priest who had declared that, the could, he would wipe out every parochial school, and that the time had come for the State to turn down the church in money matters, was no fit representative off the Catholic body.

"Fortunately, since the visit of the apostolic delegate to New York, His Excellency, Archbishop Corrigan, has learned that the Holy See has no truer son or more devoted adherent, no bishop sounder in the faith that needs no explanation, than the archbishop of New York is antagonizing the apostolic delegate, in the first place, and in the eccond, his alliance with Tammany Hall. The two-calumnies are perfistently repeated until the Catholics believe the charges emanating from Catholics must have some foundation in fact." charges emanating from Catholics must have some foundation in fact."

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Nov. 25.—Deputy United States Marshals Wood and McClelland went to Brookside, Ala., yesterday to arrest several persons charged with selling liquor without a license. Four men had been arrested, and the officers were after others. Last night they lay in wait, near the Sloss Iron and Steel Company's plant, expecting the other men who are wanted to pass that way.

The officers soon afterward changed their positions, and three citizens who were near by, but had nothing to do with the arrests, passed near the place where the officers had been watching, and were mistaken for the officers and fired upon by unknown persons, supposed to be the gileged liquor-dealers. Laurie McDonald was fatally wounded. D. M. Stewart was shot in the temple and dangefously wounded, and a miner named Dunts was seriously hurt. The parties who did the shooting escaped.

chock Made a Good Showing, but Could Not Hold Up for the Distance General Sporting Notes.

Although the event was a novelty in this city, the fifty-mile race between Albert Schock, the world's champion long-distarice bicyclist, and a string of running horses from Billy McDermott's stable, attracted a very slim crowd to the Athetic Park yesterday afternoon.

Had the race been properly advertised, there is every reason for the belief that a much larger crowd would have witnessed it, for the weather was perfect, and Sunday recreation gearce, now that the beach season is at an end.

Those who were present, however, had plenty of excitement, and witnessed an exhibition of endurance such as is not often afforded. While the original conditions of the gace called for but three horses and two riders, McDermott had four animals on the track, and as many riders for them; but as no protest was made at the time, all were allowed to participate.

A track was staked off for the horses on the inside of the bicycle track, so that the real to make your process.

The start was made a few minutes after 1 o'clock, horse and man keeping on eyen terms for the first mile, which was reeled off in 2:58.

The first change of horses occasioned a delay of twelve seconds, but the boy soon caught up with Schock again, and they finished the second mile in 5:50.

The next three miles were without incident, Schock pedalling away at a steady clip, without appearing to distress himself in the slightest, and keeping track of time, distance and everything else connected with the race as he traveled. The fifth mile was covered in 14:43, and at that stage of the race the horses had only just managed to hold their own apparently.

Although a new boy started out for the eixth mile, he lost fourteen seconds in getting away, and in making this up be worked so hard that he was too tired to proceed further at six miles and a quarter, and was taken down for a third boy, who also wore himself out in short order in overtaking the wheelman. At the end of the eighth mile he was so tired, in fact, that he could not walk from one horse to another without falling down.

to be the most exciting and closely contested wheel events seen in these parts for some time. The one-mile novice has twelve entries on the list, which will encessitate it being run off in heats. Among the more promising candidates for first place in this race are D. E. Whitman, protested winner of first place in the last Santa Monica road race; C. Miller hand J. D. S. Peach of Riverside, all of whom are wheelmen of some experience, and a number of others not quite so well known, but perhaps as speedy.

The one-half mile, class A, has a good field of entries, and will bring out a phenom in the person of D. "Lewis" Burke, better the great "D. L." There are a number of other contestants in this event, however, that promise to make it warm for the exchampion of the Pacific Coast.

The two-mile handicap, class A, has a field of fourteen entries, among whom are a some of the swiftest of the rising generation of wheelmen.

The one-mile bicycle, class B, will bring out a half dozen of the old timers, as will also the three-mile, class B, and will no doubt prove the events of the day.

The running 'races did not fill as readily as was expected, but that will not detract any from the excitement of the sports, as all the contestants are known to be pretty evenly matched and all running in good form. Ryan is probably the favorite in most of the running events, but he has a number of dark horses to go against that may prove a surprise to the talent.

After being knocked down twice and narrowly escaping being gored by the enraged bull, Mr. Hall was called to the Mayor's stand and there decorated by the queen of the fiesta for his galiant services. The Trampers' Annex of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, will take their next outing on Sunday, December 2, a cross-country walk to and dinner at the East San Gabriel Hotel, being the programme for that day's sport. At a meeting of the Annex, held in the clubrooms last Thursday evening, it was decided to adopt as the outing costume knee pants and sweater, or flannel shirt, and brown caps. President Kennedy, of the Athletic Club, has been patiently laboring for the fast three weeks with the direction of the aforesaid club, to get them into condition for a half-mile handicap bloycle race—termed the "directors' race"—to take place during the field-day events at Athletic Park next Thursday. He has succeeded in getting John Brink, one of the speedlest of the lot, into the pink of condition, while he is not so successful with C. M. Baker, who is at present busy inventing a good excuse for backing out. The others are all willing to participate, and as Mr. Kennedy has succeeded in getting a local wheel firm to donate a safety for first prize, the prospects are good for the race taking place.

As to the personnel of the team, that is a secret to all but the coach and the captain. Cochrane of Los Angeles will probably play full back for Stanford, though he plays a better game in his old position of tackle.

Our team will most probably be made up as follows: Right end, Wilson; right tackle, Porter; right guard, Plunkett; center. Plerce; left guard, Sherman, R.; left tackle, Hunt; left end, Sherman, Ed; quarter back, Benson (captain;) half backs, Ransome, Henry; full back, McNear.

The members of both universities are praying that clear weather may continue. Last year's game was played in a driving rain, on a field flooded with water. Given a pleasant day and we will have the most interesting and exciting game of football ever played on the Pacific Coast.

WINTER RACING IN CALIFORNIA.

By letters received, says the Breeder

By letters received, says the Breeder and Sportsman, and from reports of the doings of our California stables in the East, the proposition of giving a series of races in California this winter between the greatest trotters and pacers of 1894 is advanced. Budd Doble, the great reinsman, this State in 1872. But times have changed in the past twenty-two years. While there may be hundreds, aye, thousands of people who would like to see a series of races here, it is doubtful if the managers of the horses would collect enough money at the gates to pay for their help. This statement is not made with any disrespect to the projectors of this winter circuit, it is to show them the fallacy of such a series at this time.

The large increase in the number of district fairs which take place in this State in the fall furnishes amusement for the horsemen and their families; the local candidates for 2:30 performers excite greater interest among the visitors than the advent of the greatest free-for-allers that could be started. That times have been out of joint in California this year cannot be denied. Farmers, orchardists, vineyardists and stock-breeders have been struggling against low prices and overcrowded markets; banks have failed, the booms in many parts of the State have collapsed, and the unsettled condition of political affairs have all contributed their share in causing dult times.

With such a retrospective view, is it fair

all contributed their spacetive view, is it fair times.

With such a retrospective view, is it fair to offer inducements to our Eastern friends with their valable horses to come to this Coast to race? Is it right to make promises to them while knowing they never can be fulfilled? We say, no! The people of this Coast in our interior cities have had a surfeit of racing during the never can be fulfilled? We say, no! The people of this Coast in our interior cities have had a surfeit of racing during the past year.

With the exception of Los Angeles, we do not know of any city where the alightest hope of taking in $2000 a day to see the greatest horse in the world would be received at the gate, placing the price of admission at $1. In San Jose, the gate receipts for the best week's race meeting ever given there, did not average $100 a day. The people had attended their own fair some weeks previous, and would not visit the track again. In Stockton, Vallejo, Chico, Marysville, Sacramento (even with the best track in America, and the finest place to give a winter meeting.) we doubt if it would pay these horsemen to give a three days' meeting. In Oakland, at the present time, everyone who can possibly get away to see racing, visits the Bay District track, where the fleet-footed bangtails are smashing records with singular regularity.

The horses that will come after their long and arduous campaign will find rest, a warm climate, plenty of green feed and everything to fit them for another year's trial against each other as well as against Old Father Time. To their owners, the warm hand of friendship will be extended by every horse-lover in the land; the gates of every stock farm owner will be always open for them. The advantages California possesses as a horse-breeding and horse-developing center will be observed by these astute horsemen, and the stories told of our climate by those who have, left our shores will be everified, and California will find a warm place in the affection of these visitors. If they should give a series of race meetings on the plan already devised, instead of seeing large and enthusiastic gatherings, they will race their horses in front of empty benches, then their opinions of California and Californians will believe they have a perfect right to condemn the people who did not come to see them. Such an opinion will have a disastrous effect upon the industry, and for that

FATAL RING ACCIDENTS.

Touching upon the recent death of Con Riordan, the New York Press prints the following resume of tatal ring accidents:

"Fatal ring accidents have been singularly infrequent in this country. No prominent puglist has ever suffered serious injury, and the records do not disclose a single fatality in a mill in which both men went into the ring properly trained. Last night's accident can scarcely be said to be a prize-ring fatality, for the reason that it happened in a friendly bout, in which big gloves were used. The burden of Fitzsimmons should be laid on the mapager of last night's show rather than on Fitzsimmons, for the accident would scarcely have occurred if Riordan had been in any condition. The gloves used were such as obtain in gymnasiums and are usually deemed harmless. Men in normal health use them every day and suffer no injury, so that the accident of last night could scarcely have been anticipated by the most far seeing. There is a disposition here, however, to blame the men who permitted Riordan to go on. "The nearest approach to the fatality will be found in the death of Young Dyer at the winter athletic games at Yale about ten years ago. This lad was knocked down during the contest by a blow on the jaw, and, like Riordan, died without regaining consciousness. He lingered for a couple of days, but he was delirious until death ended his sufferings. An accident similar in many respects happened a student at one of our big colleges some two years ago, and it also terminated in death. A singular feature of these fatalities is that they have courred as often with big gloves or "pillows" as with the smaller and more commonly esteemed dangerous gloves. This singularity, said a sporting man tonight, 'goes to prove that the condition of the men is the most important feature to be cared for in puglism. According to the record of ring fatalities, it does not matter much whether a man is hit with a big goes to prove that the condition of the men is the most important feature to be cared for in pugliism. According to the record of ring fatalities, it does not matter much whether a man is hit with a big glove or a small one. It is the shock that tells. If a man has a weak heart, if his blood is impoverished, or if his system is run down, he has no business in the ring. The blow that kills him would not have any permanent effect on a man if in good health and in good condition."

Six years ago "Swipes the Newsboy" met 2 lad named John Dempsey in a fight at Fort Hamilton. He knocked him out and Dempsey gled from the effect of the blow. It transpired afterward that Dempsey was so poor and friendless that he not only did no training, but was actually in swant for a week before the encounter. He did not have money enough to pay his car fare to the scene of the mill, and had to walk there from New York. There are several ring fatalities on the record, but few of them occurred in the East, and all of them were in fights in which comparatively unknown puglilists appeared. The great majority of these accidents have occurred in contest for which the principals were untrained. A lightweight nalmed Walker died, after a fight with a man named Weeden, near Philadelphia, some eighteen years ago, but his death was charged to the neglect of the men who were handling him, and delay in securing medical aid.

hing him, and delay in securing medical aid.

The sporting eigment of this city is in deep gloom, and citizens generally are mourning the unenviable reputation which Syracuse is fast gaining. Syracuse has a better right to be called the City of Fatal Fights than any other town or city in the country. Last right's fatality was the second of the kind within two years. On the night of August 5, 1893, Joe Dunfee, who figured so preminently in the affair of 4sst night, fought and killed a man named Donovan. In the seventh round Dunfee caught his opponent with a suff right-hander on the jaw, knocking him down and cut. Donovan never recovered consciousness. Dunfee and othere implicated in the affair were arrested and charged with manslaughter, but the grand jury falled to find a bill against them and they were released. The late P. J. Donohue, whose funeral will take place tomorrow growning, officiated as referee at this contect—the last in which he ever appeared.

ART AND ARTISTS Meeting of the Art Association-

Notes and Personals. The committee of the Art Association held an executive meeting at their rooms, No. 110 West Second street, Friday after-

Miss Katharine Casey was elected to fill a vacancy on the committee, and to be joint secretary with Mr. Macleod.

Sixteen new members were elected by unanimous vote, as required by rule. It was resolved to hold monthly meetings, to which each member might invite one friend, and that such gatherings should be opened by a short talk on some subject relating to art, and that the rest of the evening should be of a Bohemian character. The fullfillment of this programme was referred, to Rev. J. C. Fletcher, Julius Ludovici, Miss Casey and Mr. Macleod. The first of these gatherings will be held the second Tuesday in December, when Mine. Welsecke, who has traveled extensively in the art centers of Europe, and had a special study of the old masters will give the opening remarks. On this cooxision invitations will be extended beyond the stated limit. In answer to many inquiries, the association desires to say that all lovers or patrons of art are eligible for membership upon being elected unanimously and paying the year's subscription, which is $2.

NOTES.

Because of the Thanksgiving holidays, the galleries of the Art Association will be closed on Wednesday and Thursday next. A large number of the students of the School of Art and Design will visit the Polish pictures at the Exposition Wednesday in a body, with some of the faculty, including Mrs. Macleod, Prof. Judson and Mrs. King. Any sritists who wish may join them by entering their names at the School of Art.

Julius Ludovici has removed his studio to Colorado street, Pasadena, and is busy with portraits of several prominent citisens.

H. Koch, who has heen in rather poor health of late, is anticipating a trip to the mountains in search of rest, and also new subjects for his facile brush.

Prof. W. L. Judson's splendid new studio at Garvanza is nearing completion, and a novel gathering of artists may soon be expected there. The professor is working oh some Eastern orders.

Mrs. J. C. Fletcher, whose beautiful water colors have attracted so much attention at the Art Association exhibit, has returned with her hueband, Rev. J. C. Fletcher, from a three weeks' visit to La Crescenta.

Miss L. M. King is at work on some NOTES.

The members of the Jonathan Club were well out in force on Saturday evenwere well out in force on Saturday evening last, to enjoy another of their social nights. The musical programme was exceptionally good, several numbers being rendered by "Jonathans," assisted by the following gentlemen: Mr. Arend, accompanist; Messrs. Dan Kelly and Foley Parker, comedians; Preston Chamberlain, French horn; Percy Fonimore, bass solos; Messrs. Kerns and Millzner, dramatic, recitations, and the Chevaller de Kontski, plane virtuoso. The occasion was most enjoyable, which absent members will always regret missing. It is understood that the club contemplates making a number of improvements, which, if carried out, will make it one of the leading clubs of the State.

Y.W.C.A. Meeting.

T.W.C.A. Meeting.

The usual gospel meeting of the Y.W. C.A. was held at the rooms on North Spring street yesterday afternoon. The services were opened by singing "Alas' and did My Savior Bleed." and the following-named young ladies belonging to the Y.W.C.A. choral class, together with Mrs. M. E. Auer, leader, rendered the "Lord's-Prayer" and "Chorus of Angels:" Misses Barnes, Wilcox, Prather, Chambers, Georgie Quick and Mrs. Ferguson. Miss Eva Quick served as an accompanist.

Miss Incz I. McClung, who was the speaker for the afternoon, read from the thirteenth chapter of I Corinthians.

Prayer was offered by Miss Sara Reese.
The subject for the afternoon was "Love, One for Another." The speaker said that in studying the subject for presentation there had come to her a new view of Christ's admonition to love one another even as I have loved you," and she would be giad to impress it upon her hearers. The love with which Christ loved the world was great enough to cause Him to lay down His life for it. Is the love that His followers bear for one another great enough for that? This is a test of love more searching than our declarations and protestations that we love one another.

If wa express this love of Christ in our lives as we ought we will do our ner of service that they render but with humanity will be glad that it is in their heart to render it.

Miss McClung quoted in closing, "Let all bitterness and wrath and anger and clamor, and evil speaking be put away from you, with malice and be ye kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving one another even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you."

Several prayers were offered and "More About Jesus" was sung.

Miss Morse spoke of the privilege that it was to walk with Christ, striving to be holy as He is holy, and placing entire dependence upon Him. When Christ claims us for His own it is a stronger claim than any earthly love. We should be earnest in prayer to Him that He will put into our hearts a very passion of love to save souls. It is not a light thing to be a Christian and to so profess makes it necessary for us to devote a portion of everything we have to His service, time, money and prompt response to calls for help.

Miss Morse outlined the plan for Thanksgiving day and it is hoped that it will be an occasion of happiness to many. The association rooms will be open from 3 to 8 p.m. and to young women in the city giving day and it is hoped that it will be an occasion of happiness to many. Our plan of having the city assessment made by the County Assessor is to be carried a little further by omitting the office of City Assessor entirely, and by having the county collect as well as assess the taxes, except that if dissatisfaction arises the Council can create the office of Assessor and also order a separate collection of city taxes. The City Engineer's authority is to be made large by giving him general control of all public works under construction and the location of telegraph and telephone poles, wires, pipes, drains, etc. There are to be elections of Mayor, City Attorney and City Treasurer, every two years, but members of the Council and Board of Education are to hold four years—another provision not likely to prove popular.

Burns. FOR MAN Bruises

AND BEAST. Rheumatism.

(From Our Regular New York Fashion Correspondent.) An innovation in evening styles permits even ball dresses to be made high necked and with ebow sleeves. It is absolutely necessary that bodices of this style should be made with complete severity, and that they should apparently follow the lines of a figure that is generous and beautiful about the throat and bust. So bodices of this kind are fitted over false neck-shoulders-and-backerles with great effect. This ingenious affair is made of light rubber, perforated with they holes, and the whole molded to the lines of a good figure. It is made to fit from neck to shoulders in an unbroken piece when adjusted. Front and back parts extend below this point. The very boniest woman has thus the advantage of her own slender waist and hips, while her high-neck bodice displays a rounded figure. The material gives a naturally soft effect to touch and appearance, the perforations secure ventilation, and, of course, the device is an ell-sufficient protection from perspiration.

It is not to be expected that the women whose physical proportions are good will avail themselves in great numbers of this concession, for they will much prefer the low-necked gown. Let them consider the dainty creation, which the artist presents herewith, and there can hardly the surface of the leaver the leaver. this kind are fitted over false neck-shoul-ders-and-backeries with great effect. The Bravest are the Tenderest.

The Bravest are the Tenderest.

(Sir Evelyn Wood in the Fortnightly Review.) Though all our officers in the Crimea were brave, it was Capt. Peel who inspired his followers with a part of his own nature. He exemplified the American poet's hero:

"The bravest are the tenderest,
The loving are the daring."

This man, who never qualled, felt acutely every shot and shell which passed near him, but the only outward effect was to make him throw up his head and square his shoulders, yet his nervous system was so highly strung that even a flesh-wound became dangerous in his case. In 1851, while crossing the Nublan Desert, from Korosko to Abu Hamed (where Col. Stewart and his companions, sent down by Col. Korosko to Abu Hamed (where Col. Stewart and his companions, sent down by Col. Gordon, were treacherously slain in 1884). Peel dismounted from his camel to give water from his store to a dying bird. To this tender-hearted man it appeared that our bluejackets should be encouraged to stand up to their guns like men, and he asked four of us—two Diamonds and two Queens—to set the example in the battery by always walking erect and without up.

Queens—to set the example in the battery by always walking erect and without undue haste.

Next day he, to my knowledge, although I did not see it, gave us a grand example. A shell weighing forty-two pounds came through the parapet and rolled into the center of a small group of men, who threw themselves flat on the ground, which would not, however, have saved those nearest, for there were several boxes of powder on the ground, then being, passed into the magazine. Peel, stooping down, lifted the shell, and, resting it on his cheet, carried it back to the parapet, his chest, carried it back to the parapet and, stepping onto the banquette, rolled the shell over the superior crest, on which it immediately burst.

The following day I had been relieved. The following day I had been relieved, and was eating my ration—salt pork and biscuit—on one side of a gun, when a shell burst on the top of a magazine, on the other side of the gun. It created some trepidation, aithough the danger of the powder's exploding was remote, unless another shell fell on the roof. The officer excitedly shouted to the senior lieutenant: "Shell burst in the magazine, sir!" Now Ridge, first lieutenant, Her Majesty's ship Diamond, was as brave as he was efficient, and responded without concern: "Aye! aye! put it out!" but the shouts were respeated, and I was eventually obliged to abandon my dinner, to stamp out the burning bags and fill up the crater made by the explosion.

ing bags and fill up the crater made by the explosion.

While so engaged I felt some one alongside, helping me, but did not look up; for,
with shells striking the parapet on either side, the position was not one in which I was inclined to linger, and thus did not notice it was Capt. Peel till the work was done, when he ordered me down. This was the beginning of a friendship which lasted till his death at Lucknow, in 1858.

ROMANISM, RADER AND RYAN.

As outlined in The Times of yesterday, there is an ugly element in this mayoralty fight which should certainly have some influence on independent citizens who are not bigots, who are not fanatics, if they are wavering as to whom they will vote

It is a well-known fact-or at least, it is an open secret-that Mr. Rader has the solid backing of the American Protective Association, and that Mr. Ryan will have the unanimous support of the Roman Catholic Church

When the A. P. A. first appeared upon the scene as a factor in American politics, there were many thou sands of good American citizens who, while they did not choose to join the organization, yet approved in a gen eral way, of its objects, which, as generally understood, were to eliminate entirely from politics and from the control of the schools all religious influence of every church, Catholic, Protestant and otherwise. To this extent the movement was in accord with the sentiments that are neares to the hearts of all patriotic Americans, however some of them may differ as to the necessity or advisability of forming a distinct secret organization for the purpose of accom plishing those objects.
So far, it was well. But the A. P.

A., apparently intoxicated with th ss which attended its prelimi-efforts, is now going further, and attempting a proscriptive sectarian warfare upon all candidates for political office who belong to or who are even supposed to be on friendly terms with the Catholic Church-nay, not only this, but is presuming, in es, to dictate to its members as to their choice between one and anfice. On the other hand, the church of Rome has turned its batteries loose and is sending directions to voters as to whom they should elect or defeat, solely on religious groun It has been claimed that the A. P.

A. is affiliated with the Republican party. On the other hand, the A. P. A. boasts of having elected Mr. Budd to the governorship of California. How, therefore, can this organization have any claim on the votes of Re-

Protestants. The A. P. A., for reas-ons best known to itself, has decided to direct its members to vote for the latter. It is leaving the broad ground which it assumed at the start and degenerating into a political machine, fully as dangerous to the welfare of the community as is the Catholic Church when it goes beyond its spiritual sphere and seeks to influence political affairs.

Are the level-headed unprejudiced citizens of Los Angeles prepared to take their instruction from either of these organizations? Are they prepared to indorse a narrow, bigoted and proscriptive religious war? Are they not satisfied with the proposition that all religious sects shall keep their hands off American politics and American public schools? Do they wish to place an extremist of either religious-or anti-religiousparty in the mayor's chair? If not. then let them vote for a man who is not affiliated with either of these warring organizations; who will not intermix either religion or the tariff, or the silver question with municipal affairs; who will give Los Angeles a good, common-sense, business-like administration. Let them vote for Henry T. Hazard.

Four Meetings Held by Evangelist Yatman.

The Services at the First M. E Church Very Largely Attended.

Revivalist Pratt at the First Baptist Church also Draws Large Congregations—Other Church Services.

A large audience attended the First Methodist Episcopal Church yesterday morning, where Evangelist Yatman spoke from the text in Proverbs xxviii, 13: "He that covereth his sins shall not prosper, but whose confeaseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy."

Among his remarks the speaker said: "There are conditions under which God will bestow His blessings. After the warnings of God have been given and man does not repent, then God's wrath is turned on them: I have been surprised in my study of the Bible to find how much is said of God's wrath. I cail your attention first to the fact that sin has a reward of punishment in itself. There comes a time when torture and suffering comes even in this life. But God gives hope when He says: "Let the unrighteous man forsake his way; turn ye, turn ye, why will ye die?"

"You will bear with me if I tell you some plain facts. I don't bring them of myself; God sends the message. We sing of heaven and the pearly gates; there are some who will never walk the streets of the new Jerusalem, for the man who carries hate in his bosom will not enter there. The spring of forgiveness is a prerequisit of a pure and divine life. Jesus on the cross in such a spirit prayed for His enemies.

"Oh, beloved, tell me what good is it to hearbet hete."

of a pure and divine life. Jesus on the cross in such a spirit prayed for His enemies.

"Oh. beloved, tell me what good is it to harbor hate? When I am gone I don't want any one to say 'Mr. Yatman was not faithful.' If you possess ill-gotten gains, don't dream that you can retain them and square accounts with Almighty God by your benevolence toward the church and to charity. You must square things with your fellow men.

"There comes a time when men may repent, and there is a time when it will never come again. There may be some one living a double life here. If there is a man or a woman here in that condition I beg of you, repent now and make wrong right, Jesus can tell you how you can do it."

"Mr. Yatman, in closing, said: "I want to say that forgetfulness is not forgive-right. Jesus can tell you how you can do it."

Mr. Yatman, in closing, said: "I want to say that forgetfulness is not forgiveness. You may have forgotten to do just what you have promised; that does not make it right. Remember, Jesus can forgive, if you come to Him now. I don't care how low down you have gone Jesus is able to cleanse you from all unrighteousness. When God forgives a man he stands before the world as pure as a newborn babe. The salvation which our Savior offers brings peace and joy.

"The crosses you hav to bear will be good for you. God help me to make that plain to you. If it was not for some of the burdens we carry we might plunge headlong into hell."

Mr. Yatman called for persons to rise for prayer, and under an earnest appeal twenty-three arose. Some afterwards went to the altar.

WOMEN'S MEETING.

WOMEN'S MEETING.

Trinity Church was crowded in the afternoon by ladies in attendance at the women's meeting. Mr. Yatman spoke feelingly to those present of the grand influence of woman in the several branches of Christian work, and prayers were offered for the men's meeting, to be addressed a few minutes later by Mr. Yatman. The speaker urged all to work for the boys of the home. If a mother's influence and prayers cannot reach the boys, then there is no influence outside of heaven that can. Christ can and will save all; he will answer your prayers. If there is anything in these revival meetings it is prayer that brings Christ and salvation down.

THE MEN'S MEETING.

THE MEN'S MEETING.

The services for men at the First Methodist Episcopal Church was largely attended yesterday afternoon. During the absence of Mr. Yatman, Dr. Campbell led the meeting in song and prayer.

Mr. Yatman opened his part of the services in illustrating the power of Jesus to save men, and the depths of sin from which men may be saved. "As a man coming into the ministry from the business world," said Mr. Yatman, "I desire to speak to you briefly this afternoon. The inevitable result of continued sin is to bring a man to severe temptation. He is liable at any time to be overwhelmed, and go down to eternal damnation. Man has not power within himself to reclaim him. How many men have come to this terrible temptation when they have been tempted to end the whole matter in suicide, that worse than murder?

"The Bible says: 'A new heart that "The Bible says: 'A new heart that my God will give you will change your life and aims.' "On this bright day I want you men to start in that new life that shall bring joy and happiness to all your hearts." EVENING SERVICE.

EVENING SERVICE.

The First Methodist Episcopal Church was again packed in the evening, every seat being taken, and many stood throughout the service.

Before beginning, Mr. Yatman asked Mr. Jeffries to sing.

The speaker took his theme from the eleventh chapter of Matthew, twenty-eighth verse: "Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." Said the speaker: "I stand tonight to ask you to tome unto Him. God help me to preach it. Sometimes there is a misunderstanding between the pulpit and the pew. I mean the words spoken by the preacher do not seem to reach the heart. When I tooked over the audience and eaw your kindly faces, I said there will be some surprises here tonight. As a minister and a man, I want to be true to the admonitions of my mother. Why was it Jesus should come unto me? Because all men have simed, and God sent His Son to die for them. For without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sin. Because a man says there is no hereafter does not make it so. Be sure your sin will find you out.

"Many a man and many a woman thinks it so. Be sure your sin will find you out.

"Many a man and many a woman thinks their sins are hidden, but there is an eye that sees and will reveal them. Sin is such a terrible thing that it cost God the death of His only begotten Son. But, glory to God, I have a Savior to present unto you. Oh, if I had no Christ to offer to you, how could I stand here and preach? I have the good news to tell you. He wants to be the father of every one. Some think the process of getting religion is hard. Get away from that idea. What God wants us to do is to say: I will be thine. He doesn't ask you about your sin or your fith. He wants you afi to be His. God can save every one in this house to-night, if you only say: I will."

Many arose for prayers all over the house. house.

In the after meeting the altar was crowded with seekers.

Evangelist Pratt.

LARGE CONOREGATION AT THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

The special interest began at the Sunday-school at the First Baptist Church yesterday, high-water mark was reached in the attendance, there being 372 present, the largest in the history of the school. Mrs. Cressey had 131 in her primary class. Mr. Pratt spoke most earnestly to the school, and at the close eleven professed conversion. The house was decorated by Miss Ritman's class of young girls, and it was very neat and attractive.

After the reading (with comments) of the twenty-third psaim and prayer by the pastor, Dra Read, Mr. Pratt, announced his text as being Ecclesiastes viii, 10: "And so I saw the wicked buried, who had come and gone from the place of the boly." He said: "This book has not a little to say about wicked people. In Job you have the question, "Wherefore do the wicked live?"

In David, "The wicked are like the troubled sea." Many kindred passages were quoted.
In every age we have those whom we consider wicked. My first proposition is that there are some wicked people. It is not necessary to call a conference to decide this. It is universally admitted. The difficulty is to determine who they are. Our human standards are not trustworthy. We must look to this Book. In Majachi ili, 18 we have the true standard: "That person is a wicked person who does not serve the Lord.

"My second proposition is that wicked numan standards are not trustworthy, we must look to this Book. In Malachi iii, is we have the true standard: "That person is a wicked person who does not serve the Lord.

"My second proposition is that wicked people are mortals. This you knew before I came, but still if we look at their practices it does not seem that they realize it. They live rather as though they never expected to die. I am led to remark as my third proposition, that while there are some wicked people who do repent before death, the text says that there were some who did not. Now we come into the realm of sentimentality. There is a kind of sentiment that makes it necessary for every minister to become a Universalist at the funeral of those who are unrepentant. I have seen crosses placed on the casket of those who in life abhorred the cross, and crowns on those who would rather in life have had $50 than to have had any crown spoken of in the word of God. At the risk of being rode I must break in on this morbid sentimentality. Death is but an incident in the history of our life. Death does not change character. A man who is a sinner through life is not going to be made into a saint at death. Life determines character, and not death. Death has no regenerating power. The remarkable testimony of one who had had large experience in visiting the dying to the almost universal rejection of Christ at the last hour was given. Somebody says, "What about the dying thief?" I ask, "Which one?" Remember there were two. It is too true that the motives which lead men to apparent repentance at death are unworthy, and do not amount to a saving faith, as demonstrated in the cases of many who have thought themselves dying and afterwarfirecovered, only to go back to the life of sin. So many refer to Balaam's prayer, "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his," but how did he die? They Zound him dead among the enemies of God, as he had lived.

"My fourth proposition is, some men will die as wicked who have had all the ossible opportuni tion.

The services will continue during the coming week, which will be the last of Mr. Pratt's say with this church. The Bible readings will be every afternoon at 3 o'clock, except Monday. Owing to the largely-increasing audiences this meeting will be held in the main room.

Other Services.

ALL OF THE CHURCHES WELL AT-ALL OF THE CHURCHES WELL ATTENDED.

At Unity Church a sermon on "Christ's Doctrines Concerning Womanhood" was preached yesterday morning, by the pastor, Rev. J. S. Thochson. Several passages from the gospels were quoted, to show Christ's esteem for women. His conversations with His mother in the temple, at Cana, and at the cross, were referred to as proofs of His confidence in His mother's mental abilities, and of the honoy in which He held her. Mary had a grand mind, and a fine education. She traveled through Palestine, Arabia and Egypt. Besides her mative tongue, she probably could speak Greek, Latin and some Egyptian dialects. and never will have such a mighty and true friend as Christ has been to them, and His religion has lifted the women of Christendom far above all other women. Women ought to have the right to vote in all matters of the public schools. When they purify the schools of all political cor-ruption, then they will have shown their ability to help men to rid the nation of official corruption.

TRINITY METHODIST CHURCH. Rev. A. C. Bane, pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, peached to a large congregation yesterday morning, his subject being "The Second Coming of Christ." The text was from Acts i, 2: "This same Jesus which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in tike manner as ye have seen him go into heaven."

angels in heaven, but it shall come as a thief at night. True, it is declared that the gospel must be preached to all nations, but this has about been done. As in the days of Noah, so will it be with the eqming of the Son of Man. The farmer will be at the plow, the carpenter at the bench, the merchant behind the counter, the children in school.

Let us not be looking for signs, nor littening to the teachings of men, but let us be looking for Orist, as we are commanded to do. He may come at any moment. Be prepared to meet Him, and be ever listening for His footsteps. Then can we say with joy: "Even so, come, Lord Jesus."

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH. Rev. A. C. Smither preached at the First Christian Church last night upon "Nebu-chadnezzar's Dream and Its Fulfillment."

Rev. A. C. Smither preached at the First Christian Church last night upon "Nebuchadnezzar's Dream and its Fulfillment." "This prophecy and its literal fulfillment," said the speaker, "is one of the many proofs of the divine origin of the word of God."

He then traced the fulfillment of this dream as it actually took place in history, pointing to the head of gold in the vision as applicable to the Babylonian kingdem, over which Nebuchadnezzar ruled. The shoulders of silver were symbolical of the Medo-Persian kingdom, which succeeded the Babylonian kingdom. The brazen thighs illustrated the Greeks, whose kingdom was established by Alexander. After this comes the iron kingdom, the Romans, so called because of the strength and vigor of this nation.

The speaker then dwelt at length upon the organization of the fifth universal monarchy, which took place in the days of the Roman empire. This was the kingdom of Christ. He then pointed out the several characteristics of this kingdom as set forth by the inspired prophets. In the first place, it had its origin in the days of the Roman empire, and not in the days of the Roman empire, and not in the days of the Roman empire, and not in the days of the Roman empire, and not in the days of the Roman empire, and not in the days of the Roman empire, and not in the days of the Roman empire, and not in the day of Pentecost. This stone was cut out without human hands, indicating its divine origin, for God was with this kingdom. It was aggressive; it smote the image upon the feet and destroyed it. So was the early church aggressive. It hated sin and made war upon it at every point. This stone grew rapidly. Such has been the growth of the kingdom of Christ in every age, and today is marching in stately grandeur in its career of conquering the world. The stone filled the earth in the vision. So the church is destined to prevail over all men, and to cover the earth as the waters cover the sea. Another prophesied characteristic remains to be fulfilled, and this is that this church or

Dr. Fay gratefully acknowledged the influence of the past. In all the elements of the higher life, today is richer than any former day, because we are aided by the thought and experience of all who went before us. An innumerable muftitude of thinkers and actors through all the receding centuries helped to grade and beautify the road we travel. And yet our eyes are in our foreheads. We were born for the forward gaze. Human nature is constitutionally expectant. In poverty, sickness, sorrow, death—everywhere and under all circumstances—we hope. The old proverth, "But for hope the heart would break," was coined from profound observation an experience. Despair thins the biood, impoverishes the nerves, starves the brain and softens the bones. The physician knows this kinows that the despairing man is literally a dying man. By every law of our nature it is, therefore, demonstrated that pessimism is not only a theological poison, but also a physiological poison. And it is thus clearly shown that in the economy of nature, the crue theology and the substance and outcome of human history, must, through and through, be promotive of immortal hope, the coul and music of good cheer, or that man is so fil-adjusted to his environment that triction, disappointment and agony must ensue. This is perfectly drop of water in air, river and mountain, dustains indissoluble relations to the ocean, indeed, will utitmately find it, and there he cleared of all invents. Palestine, Arabia and Egypt. Besides her native tongue, she probably could speak Greek, Latin and some Egyptian dialects. Her intellectual powers qualified her to hold conversations with the greatest Teacher of the ages. She was spiritual and poetical. She was Joseph's equal, if not superior. So Christ's early home was managed by the noblest of women, and under ther blessed influences, He learned to appreciate, bonor and exaft woman-hood. Many quotations from the google were made to show how Christ acknowledged the faith, spirituality, repentance and loyabty of women. He never said a harsh word to a woman. He did not biams to wery human being is in specific and loyabty of women. He never said a harsh word to a woman. He did not biams to wery human being is in specific and loyabty of women as the irrelectual, moral and spiritual equals for men. No other teacher ever give women such an exalted position as Christ gave her. Mosse, Paul Peter and Mohammen and Her fields of the substance and out-the did not be unward. To doubt it is to doubt the competency or the beneficence of God. How foolish and ungrateful it is for some women to say: "We have too much that conver will be sengers and crew, and let her go." That true friend as Christ has been to them, and His reflation has lifted the women of the substance and out-to-double of the substance and out-the first in sermons?"

The is, God tried and falled, and everlasting ruin impends. But this is herculean in fidelity. It blots out every star of heaven it converts into a pule negative the ag-nosticism of Robert Ingersoll. It is uni nosticism of Robert Ingersoil. It is uni-versal "forward gase" of the race to be thus shocked and repelled? It is the in-stinctive, buoyant hope of the heart, that pain and sorrow are transient, that peace shall uttimately come and abide. "Weep-ing may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning."

manch constitute a true Christian character, life will be a failure."

IMMANUEL CHURCH.

At Immanuel Church Rev. W. J. Chichester unfolded the truth to a large congregation yesterday. Speaking of visions, he said: Mankind may be divided into two great classes; first, those to whom nathing seems possible; second, those to whom all things seem possible. To the second class the world and the church owe their real progress. Christ's followers are the world's true optimists today. Instead of regarding the existing situation as unchangeable and submitting overli as irremedial, let us see visions of a better time coming. As the wise man says in Proverbs, "Where no vision is, the people perisheth." Or, as Thomas Carlyle puts it: "The beginning of a man's doom is when the vision be withdrawn from him, which means that every human mind, in order to fulfill itself and be successful in the best and highest sense, must have some bright and reobevision before it." The men who have reached the highest intellectual divergement and given the world its most valuable and ennobling truths have been the men who have had visions. If we know nothing except what we arrived at by a logical syllogism, the field of our range would be exceedingly narrow and contributed. Talk to those non-visionary poor man, alt down; when God wants to convert the heathen the will do-it without either your help or mine." The vision leaves its impress on our lives, socially, mornally, spiritually, and without this indefinable something we are not very happy; we are not very usefus.

PACIFIC GOSPEL UNION.

PACIFIC GOSPEL UNION. "Christ receiveth sinful men," was Even-gelist Mason's theme Sunday evening at the Pacific Gospel Union tent. A large audience was in attenance morning and evening. Tom O'Conner, the converted gambler, will be present tonight. S. C. Mason will conduct the meeting.

"The Philosophy of Temptation" was the subject of an interesting and valuable address by P. W. Search, City Superintendent of Schools, at Plymouth Church, on Twenty-first street, last even-what the result of the experiment will be, and the Almighty would not need to do this, for He knows already.

The more satisfactory explanation of temptation is that it is a means of strengthening the character. It is a self-evident fact that the person who is tempted and resists is the stronger for having resisted. Conceding this to be the case, however, the cost of the struggles in connection with the temptation to which one is subjected is not worth the development of good character which ensues from it, unless that development stands for something beyond this world.

Change of Steamers.

The magnificent steamer Arawa, now running between Vancouver and Sydney, on the Canadian Pacific line, will take the place of the Monowai, of the Oceanic Steamship Company's line, from San Francisco to Australia. She is 429 feet in length and 5000 tons burden, the largest steamer, perhaps, ever salling from the port of San Francisco. Her first voyage will be in January, sailing for Honoiulu, New Zealand and Australia January 10. The Monowai will be employed in the New Zealand service of the Union Steamship Company.

IN THE FIELD OF ELECTRICITY.

ELECTRICITY AS A MOTIVE POWER IN MINING.

Adiathermanous Glass—New Inven-tions—Electricity in the Man-ufacture of Armor Plates.

'NEW YORK, Nov. 17, 1894.—(Special Correspondence.) At a meeting held in New York for the purpose of discussing the feasibility of the electric conduit raliway, Joseph Sachs put the whole question in a nutshell in the statement that the crux of the electric conduit situation was not "Can it be built?" but "What will it cost?" The lowest cost, as very carefully estimated, can be put at $30,000 or $40,000 at mile, single track. Even this estimate is not for the best construction, and does not take into account difficulties arising from pipes, sewers, etc. There and does not take into account dimentical arising from pipes, sewers, etc. There could be no comparison between the conduit and the trolley. The trolley has been of enormous value in the ten years of its life, and it will remain supreme in its own field. There is no prospect of a conduit system ever being put in as cheaply as the trolley, and this fact will prevent the adoption of the conduit in any of the largest cities. In cities where the trolley is gorbidden, and the imperfections and drawbacks of the cable system are asserting themselves, an underground, or conduit system, will be the next natural evolution, and that developments in that direction are not far off is shown by the fact that three large and important corporations are now testing the ordinary open-slot conduit, and, so far, with most reassuring results. The point to aim at in a conduit system, and the attainment of it will do more to bring the system into favor than anything else, is to secure absolute simpletity by getting the mechanism down to the simplest forms and fewest parts, so that it can always be gotten at readily and easily repaired. An interesting point in the discussion was brought out by C. B. Fairchild, a well-known authority on street railroads. He said it was a question with many people whether there is any imperative demand for an underground system. The matter has been studied quite thoroughly, and some of the large electric companies have made designs for an underground system. One of these companies, which proposed to put in such a system in New York, underwent an entire change of heart. After studying it chey realized that a successful underground system would be a great calamity for the sireet railway interests of this country, from the fact that if one were adopted, every little city throughout the country would demand that all the wires be put underground, and that would mean ruin to nine-tenths of the street railways of the conduit was in certain street railway direles. He further stated that the preat difficulties wi

ADIATHERMANOUS GLASS.

Zsigmondy has expended much care on experiments on the production of a glass which will aborb the heat rays while transmitting light. Herr Zsigmondy finds that neither slumina, nor lead, nor sinc, nor baryta, nor boracic acid, nor an excess ner a deficiency of alkali has any marked influence on the heat absorptive power of glass, so long as the glass is colorless; but the absorption of heat rays increases with the introduction of color. Silver glass, tinted bright yellow, transmits 64.5 per cent of heat; bright green chremium glass, 61.3; bright red, copper glass, 61.1; bright opal glass (fiame showing red through it.) 57.7; bright blue copper oxide glass, 53.5; brown iron mangamese glass, 43.7; dark red copper glass, 51.5; blue cobalt glass, 31; and dark blue copper oxide glass, 34. The electric light is the coolest commercial light known; but electricians are seeking to produce a light that will give greater illuminating power with the minimum dispersion of heat rays. This point will presently be strained by improvements in the light itself, but in the meantime inventors are of heat rays. This point will presently be attained by improvements in the light itself, but in the meantime inventors are trying to neutralize the effect of the present heat-giving flame by following out Herr Exigmondy's line of research, and preventing the passage of the heat rays through the encircling glass globe. It is said that a glass almost impermeable to heat has been produced in Germany. It is made from 70 perts of sand, 25 of kaclin and 34 of sods. A plate of it 7 to 8 millimetres thick allows only 11 to 12 per cent. of the total heat of a butterfly gas jet to pass. Its first direct use is likely to be in metallurgical operations, where the eyes are exposed to heat.

NEW INVENTIONS.

Inventors are of two kinds, those who conceive ideas and those who put them into tangible shape. It is of the latter that those of whom the world takes cognisance, but the former get an innings once in a while. A village blacksmith writes to an English paper: "I see in your paper something about an electric experiment at Worcester, that they are utilizing water power. If have made a motor which can be fixed in the Bristol Channel, and once fixed, needs no attendance whatever, not even a boy. It could be fixed at the new passage or any dida river. Of course, it will wear out in time. I could make a wheel to develop 100,000 borse-power. No matter which way the tide is running, my wheel always works one way. It works automatically, and has taken me twenty years to think it." An obscure genius thus writes from lowa, United States, to a London electrical journal: "Gentlemen—I find that the nations of the East are actively engaged in solving the problems of marrine navigation. But they lack the motive force is entirely new, and we all know there is power in gun cotton if it can be properly harnessed to do the work. Although it is an untried thing, yet have confidence as a practical mechanic to believe it would be a success. I am willing to sign a contract to try the thing, and if it proves a success, I am so be remunerated in a liberal way, and if a failure to receive nothing. Is that not fair? It would be impossible for me to go to the journey to oversee the work, but I can seen a model and specification of the machine, but first and foremest there must be a contract properly made out. It will be so arminged that any amount of pistons can be used and so arranged that the whole can be used and so arranged that the whole can be used and so arranged that the whole can be used and so arranged that the whole can be used and so arranged that the whole can be used and so arranged that the whole can be used and so arranged that the whole can be used and so arranged that the whole can be used and so arranged that the whole c NEW INVENTIONS.

and you know that gin cotton is not bulky or heavy. I am not going to say it is a cheap power to run, but in its construction it is not costly. I think I can dispose of the noxious gases as fast as created. Now if you want to try the experiment you can do so. Perhaps you do not want to invest in an uncertainty, but if you do I will do all I can in my present health to forward it."

ELECTRICITY AS A MOTIVE POWER IN MINING.

D. Selby-Bigge, in a paper on "Electricity as a Motive Power," thus summarizes the advantages of electrical power for mining operations: (1) That it can be transmitted long distances with small loss, thus making it possible to use power at such a distance from its source as would otherwise render it unavailable; (2) the conditions for conveying electrical power from one point to another require less space, are more easily put in and repaired, are easily tapped for branch circuits, and form a more fiexible system throughout than any other mode of transmission permits; (3) the electrical system is ideal, viewed from the standpoint of cleanliness; the stations can be 'made to occupy a minimum space; the system does not vitiate the air in mine working; and the current used—500 volts—has been proved to be quite free from danger to life. Mr. Selby-Bigge gave an interesting instance of the way in which the benefits of electricity have been illustrated in California. At Bodie an electrical power plant has been erected to run a twenty-stamp mill. In 1891, milling cost the company on an average $3.89 per ton, crushing about thriteen hundred and nine tons per month, and, as the price of fuel was $10 per cord in that locality, the fuel bills frequently exceeded $2000 a month. On this account, coupled with other reasons, it was decided to try electricity. An excellent water power was found in a mountain stream on the northern slope of Castle Peak, in the Slerra Nevadas, and a power-house was erected within a mile of it. A pole line was constructed, following a straight line, twelve miles long, over the mountains from the power-house to the mill, upon which to hang the wires, and a telephone line was also run from the Bodfe office to the power-house, four-teen miles away. Work was begun in August, 1892, and in October, 1893, the plant was ready for operation. A saving was made from the start of, $1.53 per ton. The manager of the works, in his report on fou IN MINING

OF ARMOR PLATES.

Another modification of great value in the electric welding process has been made in the manufacture of armor plates for battle-ships. In the process of harveyising plates, it has been customary to leave a soft strip along the entire length of the plate, to facilitate the bolting.
This left a weak spot, which, in actual warfare, a projectile might pierce at any moment. Now, the electric current is applied to the plate in such a way that the temper is drawn only at the spot where the bolt is to enter, and the hardness of the rest of the plate is unimpaired.

MUSICAL MENTION.

Los Angeles society is at present talking Winfield Blake, and with the aim of assist ing that worthy charity, the Newsboys Home. The affair promises to be novel an original, and will partake of a grand musi criginal, and will partake of a grand musi-cal festival with a pantomimic setting and semi-dramatic. About one hundred of our best people will take part, and pretty women and beautiful costumes will be one of the features, together with elaborate scenery and charming music. The piece will be placed within the range of ameteur talent, and nothing too difficult will be at-tempted which will be a pleasing novelty. The long list of lady patronesses em-braces some of the best-known society women of the city.

PIANO RECITAL. PIANO RECITAL.

A musical event of unusual importance will take place Wednesday evening at Bartlett's Music Hall, in the shape of a plano recital by Chevailer de Kontski, one of the world's famous artists. The programme will be especially interesting, including some of Beethoven's greatest compositions. De Kontski is the only living pupil of Beethoven since the death of Rubenstein, a few days ago, and for that reason, if no other, his playing will be particularly interesting to the musical student. He will be supported by good local talent.

PUPILS' RECITAL. Miss Cora Riggins gave a pupils' reci-tal Friday evening at the Blanchard-Fitz-gerald Hall, which was well attended. The numbers were well chosen, and rendered in a way which showed careful study and good instruction. Following was the pro-le Dibble.

Waltz (Chopin)—Miss Laura Mosher.

Duet—Miss Cecile Lewis. NOTES.

Monday afternoon, December 3, a pupils' recital under Prof. William Plutti's direction, will be given at Miss Marsh's school, No. 1340 South Hope street.

Messrs. William Plutti and Arnold Krauss are preparing special composers' programmes, the first to be given about December 7. They are to be known as the Plutti-Krauss classic afternoon concerts. Saturday afternoon, December 1, O. Stua art Taylor begins a series of popular balad concerts. They will be known as Taylor's Pops, and promise to be among the most interesting musical events of the season.

A concert for the benefit of the choir fund will be given at Plymouth Church, Tuesday evening. An excellent programme is promised, and among the performers are Miss L. Pleper, F. Knewing, Miss E. Haines and Chambers's Mandolin Club.

REDUCED FIRE INSURANCE.

The Schedule of Lower Rates is in Effect.

The considerable reduction in fire insurance rates which was sometime ago spoken of in The Times has been put into effect. While the new schedule is not all it has been hoped it would be in the way of reductions, yet it is very much to be desired, as compared with the rate schedule which was in force up to two or three days ago. The Los Angeles Board of Fire Underwriters, through the organization of which the new reduced schedule of rates was consented to by the Pacific Insurance Union, has for its membership nearly all of the fire insurance agents in the city.

The Executive Committee of the board has arranged to meet with the Executive Committee of the Merchants 'Association tomorrow. The purpose of the meeting is understood to be to demonstrate to the members of the latter organization that the banding together of the insurance agents is to the interest of the merchants. By means of the organization of the insurance men it is intended to do away with nearly, all the scaling of their own commissions as it has heretofore been the custom for the agents to do when by so doing they could persuade a property-owner to take out a policy for a large amount.

The City Council will meet at 10 o'clock this morning.

The City Council will meet at 10 o'clock this merning.

There will be a meeting of the Board of Education this evening. It is expected the case of the secret investigation of the charges against Principal Moore of the Eighth-street echool by the Teachers' Committee, as well as other matters, will be presented.

mittee, as well as other matters, will be presented.

The office of the City Superintendent of Schools has been provided with an electric clock so that the exact time may be determined whenever required. This is frequently necessary, as for instance when a pupil in one of the schools is one or two minutes late. The teachers can in most of such cases ascertain the exact time by telephoning the Superintendent's office,

PUBLIC LIBRARY STATISTICS. Some Figures Regarding the Work of the Past Year.

The statistics for the annual report of the Public Library, as balanced Saturday, stand as follows: Books circulated for home use, 299,720; for reading-room use, 110,848; for reference-room use, 34,673; total, 445,- to reference-room use, 34,673; total, 445, 241.

The total number of persons drawing books is 17,514, or a trifle over one-fitth total number of Los Angeles books is 17,514, or a trifle over one-fifth of the entire population of Los Angeles. The average daily home use of books is 1020, and the average daily number of visitors to the library is 1350. Now comes the question: "What is the effect of this steady stream of people upon that part of Broadway where the library is situated, and upon the cars passing by and near the library?"

The total number of visitors to the library during the past year probably exceeds that of any other institution, business-house or church in the city.

THIRTY days more and then Christmas. How near.
We have been thinking about you in our preparations for the holidays in making large purchases of holiday goods. Monday we will give to every purchaser of $5 worth of goods or more, an elegant cane. We have over 2000 to select from. These canes are imported goods with metal handles and natural sticks. The regular retail price ranges from 50c to $2 each. You can replenish your Christmas presents without a cent of cost, and where is the gentleman that will not appreciate a nice cane for a Christmas present. In this connection we want to tell you about the largest cloak department in the city. Looking forward to a large cloak business we bought for the fall and winter trade an unusual large stock. It is our policy to sell out every dollar's worth of goods before the new arrives. At the present time we are making big cuts in the cloak room. It is impossible in the limited space we occupy to go into a detailed description of the goods and prices. Our reputation for square dealing is back of the cloak department and the reductions we advertise. Wherever there is an overstock in colors, styles or sizes the prices will be marked so low that there can be no question about the value Come in and look at the great values for $5, $8 and $10 each. We will have special tables for your inspection that will contain the greatest cloak values you ever saw. We will close every cloak before the spring goods arrive. The prices will be sacrificed for this purpose. The cloak trade from now until January 1 will be unusually heavy in this house with the prices lower than you ever saw them sold for. The great dress goods sale still continues. We are selling dress goods for 75c a yard that have been selling all the way from $1 to $2 a yard. We are doing the largest dress goods trade we have ever done. The prices and the staple character of the goods makes the dress goods bargains the more pronounced. We are selling a lot of wide allwool dress goods for 75c a yard that are fine bargains. It is the choice of a large stock that are offered at these extreme low figures. Included in this lot is a fine line of black goods. Fine beaded gimps at a big reduction. The most of them are the finest cut jets at about the price of the common ordinary jet. We are showing new side combs, hair ornaments, kid gloves and a large line of new handkerchiefs at extreme low prices.

"It is the expression of a sincere and honorable business house," was the remark of a well-known business man in a conversation with reference to our announcement of reduced prices. It is such encomiums as the above that we shall endeavor to merit in pursuing an honorable and legitimate course in giving the public the low prices that we have inaugurated. We cannot resort to such clap-trap faking methods of advertising as a cutrate store with low prices on a few leading articles and get full price for others. Our policy is to give everybody the very lowest price on everything whether it is advertised or not if you do not know that the price has been reduced we will tell you, so that you may depend on getting the benefit without the formality of asking for it. Our reduced prices are a permanent feature in our establishment and we are more than ever convinced that it is a move in the right direction. Those who come from the east will recognize in our policy that waich they have been accustomed to, and the entire public will appreciate the opportunity to receive such low prices in a first-class modern pharmacy where all are insured the most courteous treatment and a guarantee of the genuineness of all our goods.

THE NATIONAL BANK OF CALIFORNIA.

The National Rank of California is one of the few banks that successfully stood the shock of the late panic and maintained full coin payments right through.

The National Bank of California pays no interest on deposits in any form offers no special inducements for business other than reliability when the customers exercise their right to demandtheir momey.

In the matter of loans it looks more to reliability than high rates of interest, and desires on any except from good and reliable parties, and then exacts good security, believing that no shanks better or more reliable than its loans.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

Importance of the School Board. Importance of the School Board.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21, 1894.—(To the Editor of The Times:) Permit me to call the attention of your readers to the importance of a careful selection of the Board of Education at the city election. The chief question asked by intelligent parents before determining to make our city their portance of a careful selection of the Board of Education at the city election. The chief question asked by intelligent parents before determining to make our city their home is with regard to our schools. The question is seldom satisfactorily answered. Last year a mother came to Los Angeles and placed her children in school three months in order to decide whether it was wise to remove to our city. At the close of that time she decided that glorious climate and superior business opportunity for her husband were no compensation for insterior educational advantages for her children, and returned to her home in the middle West. She is but one of many who have made similar decisions after careful investigation. This is not pleasant to write nor to read, but if we would cease to flatter curselves that our schools are the best in the world, and that there is no need for improvement, we would then be in a condition to make them what we claim that they stready are. The chief responsibility resting upon the voters with regard to school affairs is the election of a school board. In a few days the new board will be elected, and they will shape the policy of the schools for the next two years. We are fortunate in having Mr. Search for superintendent, but without the support of a wise, disinterested board have received the nomination for the ensuing term: They are Dr. Willis and Mrs. Hughes. Two out of nine is a small proportion of members familiar with the work. The new charter contains a wise provision that will make this impossible hereafter in case the charter is adopted. Political issues should in no way influence voters in this matter. The good of the schools and and their good only should be considered in casting a vote for a member of the board. The work of the Board of Education is second to none in the community in importance, and in the responsibility it entails. It is unpaid work, because it was the thought of the founders of our city that only such as were animated by the most disinterested public spirit should portant work that the greatest compliment we can pay a man or woman will be to ask him to serve our ward as school director. The city conventions have made careful selections, but there is choice even between two good men for this important work, and I desire to urge upon every good voter the importance of a selection being based on other than party grounds.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

LOUISE PREVOST WEARY OF HER LIFE.

She Turns on the Gas at Hotel Ra mona, but is Promptly Cared for and Recovers—Much Mystery.

A stylishly-dressed young woman went to the Hotel Ramona yesterday, engaged a room for the night, and deliberately turned on the gas in an attempt at sul cide. The event created great excitement in the hotel, and much care was taken by the management to save the young woman's life. Dr. William D. Greene was woman's life. Dr. William D. Greene was promptly summoned, and everything was done that was necessary to restore her to consciousness and make her comfortable. She is now out of danger. The hotel people used every endeavor to keep the matter secret, and a great deal of mystery was east over the circumstance.

of mystery was cast over the circumstance. The drug store people knew nothing, the hotel cierks knew nothing, the waiter The drug store people knew nothing, the hotel clerks knew nothing, the waiter could not be made to say a word, and the doctor knew less, so that the task of getting information was difficult. From a gentleman rooming at the hotel, who knows the young woman it was learned that her name is Louise Prevost, and that she came from San Francisco. She is a beautiful brunette of good appearance, who is said to be well known in San Francisco, especially to frequenters of the Midwho is said to be well known in San Franciaco, especially to frequenters of the Midwinter Fair, where she was employed by a prominent concessionaire. She is also known to many exhibitors and others at the International Exposition here. She arrived here from San Francisco yesterday, and is said to have been very despondent, and it is probable that this despondent, was the cause of her attempting her life, though nothing could be ascertained of the motives leading up to the act.

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY.

Vagrants and Tramps Causing Trouble-Incest Charge.

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 24.—(Spe SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 24.—(Special Correspondence.) The cool weather is having its effect on the hobos who have gathered in the city of late and, instead of seeking shelter under a friendly bunch of pampas and "doing" the suburban houses, they now come on the main streets and court arrest by their unfortunate begging. Some of the institutes have houses, they now come on the main streets and court arrest by their unfortunate begging. Some of the justices have endeavored to break up the gangs by giving unequal sentences when more than one has been arrested at a time, but it seems to have little effect. Last night three of the above mentioned characters, named respectively James Sullivan, George Wilson and James Ryan, were arrested far drunkenness; and disturbance of the peace. Justice Gammill today sentenced them to twenty, ten and twenty-nine days each. Ryan was not satisfied with twenty-nine days, however, and requested his sentence to be changed to six months. It is needless to say, however, that it was not done. The grand jury yesterday brought in an indictment against Henry Lynden, a wealthy rancher, living at the Honda, near Lompoc, for incest, Some time ago Lynden's niece, who was living at his house, became enceinte, and to escape prosecution Lynden took her to San Francisco under pretence of showing her the Midwinter Fair. While in San Francisco he had a marriage contract drawn up which they both signed, and have since been living as husband and wife. Some of the citizens of Lompoc, however, decided that the matter must not drop so easily and brought the case to the attention of the grand jury with the result above stated. Sheriff Broughton left last night for Lompoc to bring Lynden here. above stated. Sheriff Broughton left last night for Lompoc to bring Lynden here. The three-mast schooner Lena Sweassy, Capt. The sloop Geneva sailed today for Santa Rosa Island with a party who will visit the wrecked Crown of England.

Another Letter. SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 25 .- (Special

Correspondence.) The City Council yes-terday afternoon as a committee of the whole visited the site of the proposed extension of the boulevard. They drove over the eastern portion of the boulevard and viewed the work of laying the asphalt pavement with asphaltum just as it is taken from the mines. This new method is giving as good satisfaction as the old way and will soon, doubtless, become a general method of improving the city general method of improving the city streets. The route for the proposed ex-tension of the boulevard was decided on. The plan is to run it along the beach un-til it reaches the road leading to the cemetery. Here the city authority ends, and beyond that point the work would have to be carried on by the Board of Su-pervisors, which, it is understood, they are willing and ready to do. pervisors, which, it is understood, they are willing and ready to do. With the financial aid which it is said residents of Montecito are willing to give, it will not be necessary to issue bonds for this purpose, but the necessary funds will be easily raised in the usual way. The Council were convinced of the feasibility of the project and the is no doubt but it will be carried out.

The grand jury finished their session last evening and submitted their report which in substance is: They found the county hospital in good condition; the jail is in rather dilapidated state; insufficient evidence was found to indict keepers of gambling houses and saloon-keepers who sell-liquor to minors; a detective was recommended to look into this matter. The Board of Supervisors was recommended to consult those in charge of the county institutions before making any changes in them. An expert was appointed to examine the books of such officers of the county as pertain to revenue. A true bill of indictment was found against Henry Lynden for incest.

A pleasant matinee tea was given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. D. W. Thompson in honor of Miss Mitchell.

MONROVIA. Nov. 24.—(Special Correspondence.) On Thursday morning C. M. Nickols, a carpenter employed on the Baxter Block, while working on a scaffold some fifteen feet from the ground, made a misstep and fell to the cement floor of the building. He was immediately taken to the office of Dr. Wheeler and upon examination it was found that one of the bones of his left wrist was broken, and his back severely sprained.

Tramps are again becoming numerous in this vicinity, and several parties here have reported small articles missing, although nothing of value has, as yet, been stolen. A gang of them have a camp near the Southern Pacific roundhouse.

THE SPILLMAN STIPULATION.

EX-MAYOR HAZARD REPLIES TO HIS CRITICS.

He Points Out the Weak Points in the Arguments Used Against Him—His Position Sus-

In regard to the Spillman stipulation, and the criticisms which have been passed upon his course in the matter, ex-Mayor Hazard makes the following statement: "I read in the Express, referring to the use of Spillman vs. Los Angeles: "If the expect was a privated in The Times, both case of Spillman vs. Los Angeles: 'If the report was as printed in The Times, both Mr. Hazard's remarks and the Times editorial would be sound, but the truth is that report as printed by The Times and commented on by Mr. Hazard, and that paper, suppressed the most essential feature of the stipulation; the very features which gave the city all it claimed or could claim, and which absolutely protect it in claim, and which absolutely protect it in claim, and which absolutely protect it in its rights.'

"The Express then proceeds to quote the stipulation in full, italicizing the portion which was omitted. There was a clerical omission, as plainly appears in copying this stipulation, but the unfortunate position the Express has put itself into is the statement contained above, 'that if the report was as printed in The Times, both Mr. Hazard's remarks and the Times editorial would be sound.' On examining the stipulation it will be found that the only part of the stipulation omitted is the clause which gives to Mr. Spillman the greatest right, viz., 'that the city of Los Angeles has no interest in the real estate described in the complaint or in the underground' water lying therein. This is the stipulation, then, 'the very features which gave the city all it claimed or could claim, and which absolutely protect it in its rights.'

"It does seem to be a singular thing that this clause, which is absolutely in the interest of Mr. Spillman could be the one that would thus protect the city, but this subterfuge is put to rest because that part of the stipulation is copied in full in the interview to show how it vested rights in Spillman and not in the city. If that clause that the city had no interest in the land of Spillman or the water thereon had been inserted in the stipulation, then The Times and I would have been 'sound,' and although it serves to limit the rights of the city under the stipulation, and is copied in full in the interview to sound have been 'sound,' and although it serves to limit the rights of the city under the stipulation, and is copied in full in the interview (showing beyond a doubt that it was omitted accidentally and not intentionally, being referred to as a dangerous stipulation) The doubt that it was omitted acci-and not intentionally, being re-to as a dangerous stipulation) The dentally and not intentionally, being re-ferred to as a dangerous stipulation) The Times and I are talked about in this wise: 'Is not this exposure enough to prove conclusively the emptiness of these self-styled purists, who claim to be the embodiment of all honor and purity in politics?' and much more of like tenor.

politics? and much more of like tenor.
"To call the attention of the public to the dangerous character of a stipulation whereby the water rights of the city are imperiled is enough to incur the denunciation of this organ that has championed mearly every scheme whereby the rights of the people have been injuriously affected.
"I ask what motive could induce the Express to approve giving to Mr. Spillman

Task what motive could induce the kyress to approve giving to Mr. Spillman is decree of court. That W. T. Spillman is e owner of the undeveloped water lying said land (this strip of land cuts dictly across the Los Angeles River from the fulls on one side to the hills on the other side, intercepting every drop of wate that comes from the San Fernando Val ley) and has the right to develop and us that comes from the San Fernando Vaitey) and has the right to develop and use the same, subject to the qualification hereinafter mentioned.' Now let us see what that qualification is. The stipulation proceeds: 'That the city of Los Angeles is the sole owner of all the waters of the Los Angeles River, situate in the county of Los Angeles River, situate in the county of Los Angeles, State of California, and also all waters forming part of its sources, underground flow, feeders, springs and all subterranean waters flowing on the same and tributary thereto.'

"That is that the city is the sole owner of all the waters, etc., but Mr. Spillman has the right to develop and use the undeveloped water lying in said land.' What does it avail the city if it is the sole owner of this undeveloped, water in the river if Mr. Spillman can develop and use the undeveloped waters on this ground to which all the waters of the river are tributary? We have then a sort of joint ownership in this water with Mr. Spillman, with an outstanding eighth or his part 'to develop and use it.'

"Then to make it still plainer on this outstanding eighth or his part to develop and use it."

"Then to make it still plainer on this point it goes on: "That the city of Los Angeles has no interest in the real estate described in the complaint, or in the underground undeveloped water lying therein, except as to such waters as constitute part of sources, feeders, springs, underground flow and subterranean waters of the Los Angeles River, or are tributary thereto, and that as to all such waters the city of Los Angeles is (what) the sole owner. Does it stipulate that the city can use or develop it? Not much; that right is outstanding in Mr. Spillman so far as any waters can be developed on his land because he says so in so many words. Nowhere is there any statement to the effect cause he says so in so many words. No-where is there any statement to the effect cause he says so in so many words. Nowhere is there any statement to the effect that the city has the right to 'use or develop' any of the water stipulated about, but we find that right plainly set out on the part of Mr. Spillman. Not only that, but we find it plainly stated that 'the city has no interest in the underground, undeveloped water lying therein,' meaning land described in the complaint.

"To illustrate the dangerous character of this stipulation, suppose it should recite that the city was the sole owner of all the undeveloped waters on this land of Spillman's, and went further and stated that Mr. Spillman was not the owner of any of this water (but the stipulation states that Spillman is the owner,) and then goes on and states that he has the right to 'use and develop it,' what does the owner-ship amount to if Mr. Spillman has the right to develop and use it?

"I want to call your attention to the clause wherein Mr. Spillman is stipulated to have the right to 'use and develop' this water, 'subject to the qualifications hereinafter contained,' and those qualifications hereinafter contained,' and those qualifications are that the city is the sole owner of all the water of the Los Angeles River, feeders, etc.

"Now we have clearly shown that he tions are that the city is the sole owner of all the water of the Los Angeles River, feeders, etc.

"Now we have clearly shown that he has the right to develop this water and use it, and the only limitation thereon is that the city is the owner of the waters of the river. Now we come to the only clause that pretends in any manner to simit this right of Mr. Spillman to the use of this water. It reads: "That the right of said Spillman to develop and use the underground undeveloped waters on said land shall be limited to the right to develop and use only so much of said waters as do not constitute part of the sources, feeders, springs, underground flow and subterranean waters of the Los Angeles River and are tributary thereto."

"The dangerous character of. this stipulation is that it recognizes and is based on the assumption that on this land there are underground and undeveloped waters other than that of the feeders to the river of Los Angeles, and we give to Mr. Spillman the right to proceed and cut this tunnel, which intercepts all this water, and we stipulate that he owns it and has the right to use it and develop it. No one can tell the extent to which the courts may construe this stipulation; under it there can be no doubt as to his right to proceed with his work, and when he begins to use the waters it is then incumbent on the city to show that he is appropriating the waters of the river, and if we mannot prove that, we can enjoin him, but we could enjoin him, except for this stipulation, from doing anything that would have in the most remote degree a tendency to decrease or in any manner affect the present or future flow of water in the river. Why should we in any manner consent to the performance of any act when the scale that the throw a cloud over the ownership of our water supply? What the object and purpose of this stipulated and the first of the record into? Do not the courts of the dear the right of the courts of the river. Why should we had the courts of the river. Why should we had here to water that this suit was brought and this judg-ment entered with the idea that it did not in any manner affect the city in its rights to this water? If so, why was the rights to this water? It so, why was the suit brought against the city?

"The danger involved in a final judgment thus entered is conclusive, it cannot be avoided. It may be out of the power of the Council and the City Attorney to bind the city by a contract that in any manner deprives us of our right as a municipality, but a judgment entered into in a case wherein the city is a party is finality, and we cannot avoid its effect by claiming that we did not understand it. In stipulating one is supposed to mean what his language implies, and the plain import of that stipulated judgment is that Mr. Spillman has the right to go on with this work and we have no power to stophim. If the erecting of extensive waterworks just above the city and dependent upon the drainage of the San Fernando Valley for a water supply does not menace our rights in the premises. I mistake the purpose of Mr. Spillman and his associates. "But what adds color to the auspicion that atjaches thereto is that the Express, which was opposed to the ownership of waterworks by the city two years ago, as was evidenced by its fight against the issue of bonds to establish municipal waterworks, now assures us that there is nothing in this innocent stipulation, but falls to tell us what its purpose is, if it is to innocent. I was in hopes that an effort might be made to recall the stipulation before any rights attached thereunder and that we might avoid the same, but instead of being seconded by this journal I am denounced for saying anything about it. In the name of common sense what good can in any manner accrue to us by this sipulation? No pretense is made that the city acquires any rights thereunder, then why enter into the same? Let us stand firmly on our rights to the water of the river and concede nothing whatever that can in any manner affect the same. "Does any one believe that after this scheme is developed that there will be no conflict of interest between the city and those who will proceed with this project? Why complicate, the situation by seem to have made it stick. They are putting themselves in condition to be independent of the city for their water when the lease with the city expires in July, 1898, three and one-half years.

"And now, on the eve of our entering into the control of our own water, we are confronted with another Crystal Springs project, only twenty-five times as large, if we believe Mr. Spillman, as his engineer says it will take twenty-five times as much water as the Crystal Springs, and as to this project we stipulate that Mr. Spillman owns and can use the water which he can develop in this land."

THE CITY COUNCIL.

Matters to Come Up at Today's

Among the matters which are expected to be presented to the City Council at to-day's session is a suitable memorial from day's session is a suitable memorial from a committee appointed by the Associated Charities, at a recent meeting, to devise some recommendation for the solution of the trainp problem. The memorial is to be presented to the Council today, and it is expected that it will be in substance what has been previously outlined in The Times. As the request is that the part of the left to the Park Commission The Times. As the request is that the matter be left to the Park Commission as to the arrangement of the minor details, it is possible the Council may take some action on the matter further than to refer it to a committee today. Another question which it is expected will be presented, and which the various ward representatives may find it unpleasant to dispose of, is the communication from the Merchants' Association, urging upon the Council that the vacancy now existing in the Police Commission be filled. This communication was presented to the Council last week, and it is understood that representatives of the Merchants' Association will appear today and press the matter.

The matter of the protests against the assessments, as levied for the work of the construction of the Hill-street district sewer, which has been before the Council for several weeks, is to come up again today, as is also the hearing on the protests against the confirmation of the commissioners for the widening of Broadway, between Ninth and Tenth streets.

sewring of Patton street, as proposed, has been set for 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The City Attorney has been instructed to present ordinances, prohibiting the allowing of the refuse from oil wells to drain from any place into the street. This matter may not be brought up today, but when it is there will probably be quite a showing made by some of the property-owners, who have had their property more or less damaged by the petroleum sludge, or who are likely to.

The message from the Mayor, in which he states that he returns, without his approval, the ordinance prohibiting the operation of any toboggan slide within the city, except upon permit by the City Council, will be presented. As the return by the Mayor is, in reality, not a veto, but rather a statement by him, in which he points out certain technical defects in the ordinance, it is probable the Council will not endeavor to pass the ordinance over his veto. It is thought the matter will be referred to some committee.

Statements of Campaign Expenses—
Capt. Black's Speech.

VENTURA, Nov. 22.—(Special Correspondence.) Another batch of itemised statements of campaign expenditures have been filed by the successful and deteated candidates for county offices. While some got through the fight without the expenditure of a cent, the majority of them put up all the way from $1 to $370. A large proportion of the expense was for printing, livery hire and beard, while canvassing. The most original statement is the one filed by Fred Hund, the Dem.-Pop. candidate for Tax Collector, whose trial trip cost him $184. Under the proper headings he enters the various items as follows: To whom paid, Populist Central Committee; for what paid, assessment, services performed, by whom performed, purpose of expenditure, educational; services performed, by whom performed, purpose of expenditure, educational; amount, $65. He also paid a $30 assessment to the Democratic Central Committee, and his printing, livery hire, car fare, etc., amounted to $85.

C. N. Baker, Cornoner-elect, expended $50. Among the various items the following oddities appear: Twenty dollars, to get Democratic votes; $3 to the Democrat, to get Democratic votes; $3 to the Advocate, for back protector."

A correspondent, "C. H. Several months ago W. A. Crowl, who had come from Kansas to this place with his family and located, became dissatisfied and sent his wife back to the old stamping grounds, saying he and the balance of his family would follow when the property was sold. of his family would follow when the property was sold. After Mrs. Crowl had been there some weeks she wrote to her husband, telling him not to sell, as she was coming back. On her arrival here, he concluded to go, and after being there a time, instructed his wife to sell and come on. This she did last week; but lo! the recent weather made a change in the husband in Kansas, and he telegraphed (before she and family got off) not to sell, as he was going to start immediately for Pomona. He arrived this morning, and thinks California is good enough for him in the future.

After the long seige of ninety-seven days against the weakening ravages of typhoid fever, Miss Ava Mock, for years the accommodating atachee of Pomona's postoffice, died late Saturday afternoon. Being thoughtful in life, she carried a politoy of $1000 in the Fraternal Aid Association for the benefit of the old father, her protector in life. WHEELMEN PERFECTING PLANS FOR A NEW TRACK.

The Enterprise also Includes an Athletic Park that Will Equal Any in the State—News and Personals.

SANTA ANA, Nov. 25.—(Special Correspondence.) The Orange County Wheelmen are about to inaugurate a plan that, if carried out, will give Orange county one of the fastest bicycle tracks in the country, and the best athletic park in Southern California, for baseball, football, lawn tennis and other kindred sports. The intention is also to arrange the grounds so that the gun club can hold its shooting matches on the these grounds.

The plan of the organization is to issue shares in the nature of tickets entitling the person to whom issued certain privileges. The tickets are to be of the value of $10 each, and a single ticket is to entitle the holder admission to each and every event given on the grounds for one year, or track and ground privileges for a year. For $50 a life membership ticket will be issued, entitling the holder and his immediate family to the freedom of the grounds.

The above is a proposition that should be well considered by every one having the best interests of the county at heart, as good athletic grounds would be a good advertisement for Santa Ana and Orange county as well as a direct cause for the circulation of money. It has been demonstrated in no uncertain way that the performances on the Santa Ana racetrack have made Orange county famous in racing circles throughout the West, and surely as much more notoriety may reasonably be expected if the proper kind of a bicycle track is constructed.

But it is not as an advertisement that this plan shows its best features. With as much more notoriety may reasonably be expected if the proper kind of a bicycle track is constructed.

But it is not as an advertisement that this plan shows its best features. With the climate and all the requisites to build as fast, if not a faster track, it is but fair to presume that this section would be visited by the fastest racing bloyelists in America, who would be gathered, with all their attendants and trainers, in the city, as well as many visitors from a distance who would come to see the work they were doing. Then, too, the money for building and maintaining the track, buying the prizes given at the meets, and for the numberless other expenses would pass through the hands of the local merchants, and the large sums that can reasonably be expected as gate receipts (over 4000 attended the twenty-five-mile handicap race recently held in Los Angeles) largely contributed by outsiders, would remain to increase the circulating medium of the county.

IN REGARD TO PRESENT IRRIGATION.

IN REGARD TO PRESSENT IRRIGATION.

The Orange Post, in a recent issue, has the following pertinent reference to the present use of water on trees and vines:

"The people are probably using more irrigating water now than in any previous year, at the same time of the season. The reason for this is twofold. The absence of moisture in the soil from the light rains last winter, and the better appreciation of fall irrigation to make a good orange crop. It is just as impossible for a tree or vine to grow and bear fruit without water as it is for an animal to thrive without food or drink. Everybody knows this, but the temptation has been at this time of the year to wait for the rains, so as to save the expense of irrigation. The result has been a starving of the tree and an irregular growth of the fruit, which became stunted or puffy. Now, in the light of past experience, the orchardists are irrigating more freely in the fail, to the great benefit of their crops."

Verdict of Acquittal After a Short Deliberation—Candidates Who Will Lose Their Offices.

GAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 25.—(Special Correspondence.) After being obt but a short time, the jury in the Embry arson case brought in a verdict of acquittal, much to the surprise of those who depended upon hearsay for their conception of the case, but not of the attorneys. This case is quite an interesting one, as it was with difficulty worked up to secure the arrest of Embry. The tollhouse, belonging to the Arrowhead Reservoir Company, was burned in the middle of the night, the tollgate keeper and his family were awakened only when the house was a mass of fismes, and they barely escaped with their lives, losing all else. There was reason to believe that the fire was of incendiary origin, and detectives were put at work upon the case. Embry was suspected at once because of trouble the Arrowhead people had been having with him, he insisting upon using the road free for himself and for others, over which there was several controversies. But, though there is in general little doubt of his guilt, the evidence was of the filmsiest circumstantial kind.

Capt. Dornfield Has Returned—Other News Notes.

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 25.—(Special Correspondence.) Capt. Dornfeld and family returned Saturday evening from a month's change of air, their time having been spent in and around San Francisco. They are once more at home on the wharf, and Master Percy, aged 7. celebrated on Sunday by going overboard into the wet. He was fished out unharmed, and accepted the adventure as a mere incident of life on the ocean wave. Capt. Dornfeld says the tug Collis will be back at its accustomed moorings in about ten days. Meanwhile the coal steamers will resume operations here during the present week. Rosenfeld will endeavor to duplicate the lost Crown of England for his trade, but the new boat will not be on hand under sixty to ninety days yet. The first coaler in will be the Mineola.

eral News Notes.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 25.—(Special Correspondence.) The following absurd repert was published in the morning paper today: "It has been definitely ascertained that a new daily morning paper to be called the Local News will begin its existence in this city in about a week. Harr Wagner will be its editor and publisher and the financial backing, it appears, will come from W. O. Cole, who lately became interested in the flume company, and J. W. Sefton. It is reliably reported, at any rate, that Mr. Cole told Mr. Sefton that he could draw upon him for $10,000 in aid of a new paper, and Mr. Sefton himself expressed a willingness to put up $300. According to a man prominently identified with the enterprise, the Vidette plant will be purchased by the new concern." J. W. Sefton said to the Times correspondent this morning that this report, so far as it concerns Cole or Sefton, is absolutely false. "Neither W. O. Cole flor myself," added Mr. Sefton, "have a dollar's worth of interest in the proposed Local News, nor have we any thought of investing in such enterprise." Another leading citizen said, when shown the published report: "This town needs a paper that will print the local news truthfully, and not pusuch falsehoods as this before intelligent readers. We now have to depend upon the Los Angeles Times for truthful local news. The service rendered by that paper is pleasing to the well-wishers of San Diego.

The question has been raised whether the old Courthouse, which is now being forn down, contains any corner-stone. It has been thought that if it did the stone might contain some documents that would be of a good deal of public interest. Ex-Mayor Stephen C. Inasmuch as the building was first used as a market and afterward used for county purposes, it and afterward used for county purposes, it seems likely that there is no such stone in the building.

NO COMPROMISE.

DUBIOUS PROSPECT FOR MRS "DR." CATHERINE SMITH.

Ada Falkner Will be Compelled to Testify When the Case Comes Up for Trial—The Girl is Recovering.

It is reported that Ada Falkner, the girl who was taken from Mrs. Smith's "hospital" on Bellevue avenue several weeks ago is now on the road to recovsoon regain her health. Mrs Smith has been held to answer for trial in the Superior Court on the charge of having Superior Court on the charge of having performed a criminal operation upon the girl, and, although the woman's attorney announced in open court in a confident manner that the case would never come to trial, the attorney for the people states emphatically that the cause will be prosecuted to the end. There is no denying the fact that pressure is being brought to bear from several sources to have the matter hushed up. While this condition of affairs exists the officers engaged in working up the case realize that any hesitation on their part will be looked upon by the public as having been the result of the application of such pressure, and for the application of such pressure and for the conficience of fact the young woman herself is guilty of crime almost equally with Mrs. Smith, although she was the unfortunate victim of circumstances which were of a somewhat extenuating order. Hence if she refuses to testify, or an attempt is made to have her leave the country, the officers declare that they will file a complaint and prosecute the charge against Mrs. Smith.

The section of the penal code under which a charge may be maintained against Mrs. Smith.

The section of the penal code under which a charge may be maintained against the pirl, if the emergency requires, is as follows: "Every woman who solicits of any person any medicine, drug, or substance whatever, and takes the same, or who submits to an operation, or to the use of any means whatever, with intent thereby to procure a performed a criminal operation upon the girl, and, although the woman's attorney

"An attempt is to be made to raise the British steamer Crown of England, which went ashore on a reef at Santa Rosa Island while bound from San Diego to Nanaimo. Capt. Metcalfe, Lloyd's. surveyor, has reported that the vessel is not worth the expense of towing her to San Francisco, and it has been decided to break her up. The California Iron and Wrecking Company has entered into an arrangement with the English underwriters to break the vessel up and bring the wreckage to this port. Just what the arrangements are could not be learned yesterday, but it is understood that it is a pretty good one for the wrecking company.

"The latter concern is composed of John D. Spreckels, Robert Moors, of the Risdon Iron Works, Henry J. Rogers, the wrecker, and others. The steam scow San Pedro, which was destroyed by fire a few weeks ago, was owned by the company, and it was thought, on account of her loss, that little could be done in the way of wrecking the Crown of England. Dress Goods.

The lessening of the prices makes it possible to end your money twice as far on dress stuffs as it would go six weeks since. We are showing noble worths of skillful weave and stanch qualities at 75c, that have (for trade reasons) dropped from $1 and $1.25; they include:

6 shades of 54-inch Covert Cloths heretofore $1. 6 styles of 44-inch Scotch Plaids heretofore 90c. 9 designs of 40-inch two-tone Nov-elites heretofore $1. 12 sorts of 40-inch Silk and Wool Mixtures heretofore $1.25.

Shoes.

"Whatever is worth doing at all is worth doing well" is the uppermost thought of the shoe man. His values are unques-tioned; the honesty of the as rapidly as buyers can be shoes themselves is proved served. Four blameless by the steady throng of qualities in black silks at economical buyers; here are some shoe figures to cipher on:

At $5, Ladies' Shoes.

George E. Barnard- maker. patent leather, cloth top, L. X. V. heel; buttons only; all hand-made: worth

At $4, Ladics' Shoes.

Button only, cloth top: slipper foxed, L. X. V. heel, made by J. T. Cousins; usual price &

At $3.75, Ladies' Shoes. Hand sewed French kid, button only; patent tip, hand turned and hand welt; usual price, $6.

At $2.50, Misses' Shoes, French Dongola, button only; pat-ent tip, spring heel; made by Dugan & Hudson, which stands for wear and style.

At $2.50, Misses Shoes. Vici Kid; button only; slipper foxed, patent tip; worth fully 50 cents more.

At $2.50, Boys' Shoes.

At $1.50, Children's Shoes.

Weather predictions today, clear.

"Things are not always what they seem." We'll verify this later on. In the meantime we want to keep before you the fact that Jas. E. Patton's pure mixed paints at $1.50 per gal. and Princess floor paint at $1.25 per gal. are in your midst to stay. They are stickers, and not only that, but dangerous rivals.

Ask your neighbor if he knows anything about Patton's pure mixed paint. He will probably tell you much and may smile at your ignorance. There's a silver lining to every cloud, but we like the silver lining near at hand. In the pocket for instance. NEWTON & NORDHOFF, 321 North Los Angeles street.
